PLAN RESTRICTIONS IN SALE OF PISTOLS TO ATLANTA PEOPLE

Drastic Regulations Are Agreed Upon at Conference of Grand Jurors and Ordinance Committee of Council.

FAVOR $300 LICENSE FROM PISTOL DEALERS

Recommend That They Not Be Put on Display and That Permit From Council Be Required to Purchase a Weapon.

If the ordinance that is being drafted by the ordinance committee of the city council meets with the approval of the general council when presented, the sale of pistols in Atlanta will be greatly restricted. A license of $300 will be required of dealers, none of whom will be allowed to display their pistols for sale, and every citizen who wishes to purchase a weapon of that description will be compelled to secure a license or permit from the general council of Atlanta.

As a result of a vigorous charge delivered by Judge Ben Hill, of the criminal division of the superior court, a committee from the Fulton county grand jury, headed by Foreman C. W. Byrd, met Friday afternoon with the ordinance committee of council, and presented to that body an ordinance which had been drafted by the grand jury raising the license on pistol dealers in the city of Atlanta to $300 per year and placing about them certain restrictions, with the recommendation that the measure be favorably passed upon by the ordinance committee.

In presenting the ordinance to the committee Foreman C. W. Byrd, of the grand jury, made several remarks about the pistol evil in Atlanta against which he declared The Constitution and other papers had made a fight. He read extracts from The Literary Digest in which an article showed that Atlanta had second highest rate of homicides in the south, being next to Memphis, and urged upon the members of the ordinance committee to consider favorably the ordinance that the grand jury had framed.

Will Strike Word "Pistol."

The ordinance drafted by the grand jury provided for striking from the classification of the city license lists the word pistol wherever it appeared and the raising of licenses for the purpose of selling pistols to $300 per year.

Before going into the matter Chairman John S. McClelland asked if there were any dealers or others who would have a word to say. A dealer from Decatur street, Morris Lichtenstein, who declared he had been in the pawn broker business for twenty years, arose and declared he was in favor of the ordinance, except that he did not believe a high license would work because it would have the effect of forcing the better dealers out of business and placing the sales of pistols in the hands of unscrupulous dealers, whose only thought might be the making of money enough to pay the high license and a profit over and above that. He offered a suggestion that he thought good, to prohibit the exposure of pistols for sale. Mr. Lichtenstein thought the psychological effect of seeing pistols displayed for sale caused many people to buy them who would not otherwise think of them. He also declared that it was not the ignorant negro that purchased pistols from the pawn shops on Decatur street, but that it had been his experience that farmers from the surrounding country bought more pistols than any other class.

Favors Regulation.

John M. Heinz, who has been in the sporting goods business in Atlanta for a number of years, also spoke, and declared himself favorable to anything that would regulate he indiscriminate sale of pistols. In speaking of high license and restrictions, he told of the experience that New York city had along such lines, and advised the city ordinance committee to consider the possibility of forcing legitimate dealers out of business and making it hard for people to acquire arms for their protection, which he declared had occurred in New York, where, according to the speaker, the criminal element found no difficulty at any time, despite the law, in securing a plentiful supply of pistols. A wave of crime during the first year of the drastic pistol restrictions in New York, said Mr. Heinz,

Spring—the Best Food Season of the Year

Fresh fruits, green vegetables, fresh eggs—spring weather is bringing them to market in abundance. Delicious and refreshing they are. And they're not expensive as things go—not as compared with canned goods so much in demand at home and abroad.

Eating abundantly of the fresh fruits, vegetables and eggs that are now in season will help conserve the quota of food that we've promised to send to our allies. It will keep your grocery bill down—and will prove a pleasant change after the winter's diet of dried things and canned things.

You housewives who cannot find the time to go to market will find it profitable to watch the offerings of your dealers in The Constitution. Grocers and market keepers of Atlanta are making particular mention of new and seasonable things of spring. You'll see they always quote their prices.

NOTE—The Constitution guarantees its readers an actual saving on every purchase made from Atlanta stores that advertise their lowest prices in the pages of this newspaper.

WILSON RAIL MEASURE PASSED BY THE SENATE; SHORT LINES INCLUDED

Amendment Taking in Short Lines Was Opposed by the Administration and Was Practically the Only Change Made in Bill.

U. S. CONTROL LIMITED TO 18 MONTHS AFTER WAR

$500,000,000 Revolving Fund Provided, and President May Initiate Rates Subject to Veto of the Commerce Commission —$945,000,000 Yearly Guaranteed Roads.

Washington, February 22.—The administration bill, providing for government control of railroads until eighteen months after the war, including many "short lines," and appropriating a revolving fund of $500,000,000 for federal operation, was passed today by the senate without a roll call, and now awaits action in the house, where it is under debate.

Both senate and house worked through today's holiday to expedite the legislation. General debate was concluded today in the house and arrangements made to consider amendments tomorrow under a five-minute debate rule, with a view to final action early next week. Differences between the senate and house drafts then will be adjusted in conference.

No Record of Sentiment.

Neither on final passage nor on numerous roll calls today in the senate was there any record of sentiment on the bill as a whole. The agreement of the senate interstate commerce committee under which the compromise draft was brought in virtually precluded important revision. The only amendment radically changing the compromise draft provided for inclusion of "short-line" railroads in federal control and benefits.

Provisions of the committee compromise, fixing the compensation of railroads to the three-year basis, providing the $500,000,000 revolving fund appropriation, authorizing the president to initiate rates subject to interstate commerce commission veto, and limiting government control to eighteen months after the war, all were retained by the senate.

Amendments to reduce the period of control after peace is declared failed. One by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, to make the time limit six months instead of eighteen months, was defeated, 47 to 28, and another by Senator King, of Utah, to make the period twelve months, likewise was rejected, 45 to 29. There was no attempt today to revive the fight for indefinite government control, which was defeated yesterday by the decisive vote of 61 to 10.

Long debate came on an amendment by Senator Smith, of Georgia, so that any order by the president would not interfere with the bringing of suits by the public against the roads. Some senators argued that to make such an amendment would practically nullify the bill and destroy its purpose. It was defeated without a record vote.

An amendment by Senator Townsend, republican, of Michigan, specifying under what conditions and in what manner legal proceedings can be brought while the roads are under federal control also was rejected.

Provision for Short Lines.

Provision for the "short line" railroads was made in an amendment by Senator Cummins, of Iowa, adopted, 58 to 14. Independent "feeders" of the trunk lines estimated to be worth more than a billion dollars are affected. Fears expressed by many senators today that the "short lines" would become bankrupt if not brought within government control was the basis of the senate's action.

The vote on the Cummins' amendment to bring the short lines into the federal system follows:

Republicans—Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Gronna, Hale, Harding, Johnson of California, Jones of Washington, Kenyon, Knox, Lodge, McCumber, McNary, Nelson, New, Norris, Page, Sherman, Smith of Michigan, Smoot, Sterling and Warren—25.

Total, 58.

Against the amendment:

Democrats—Bankhead, Gerry, Kendrick, King, Kirby, Pomerene, Saulsbury, Shafroth, Underwood and Vardaman—10.

Republicans—Kellogg, Poindexter, Townsend and Watson—4.

Total, 14.

$945,000,000 Yearly for Roads.

Director General McAdoo has opposed the legislation for the "short lines" on the ground that no railroads except those selected as necessary to government unification and successful operation should be brought within federal direction and aid.

Determined efforts to reduce the government compensation to railroad owners failed. As passed the measure provides that approximately $945,000,000 will be guaranteed the carriers, based upon their standard net return for the three-year period ending June 30, 1917.

Senator Cummins offered amendments

DIES FRIDAY

DR. W. S. KENDRICK.

DR. W. S. KENDRICK, OF EMORY, IS DEAD

Funeral Services of Prominent Physician Will Be Conducted Sunday at Central Presbyterian Church.

Dr. William Scott Kendrick, senior professor of medicine at Emory University, and medical director of the Southern States Life Insurance company, of Atlanta, died Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at his home on Peachtree road, near Oglethorpe University. Dr. Kendrick was 75 years of age.

Dr. Kendrick was born in Summerville, Chattooga county, Ga., and gained his early education in the schools of that county. He was one of a family of twelve. His father was of English lineage, his mother of Scotch-Irish, who removed to Georgia from South Carolina, where their ancestors were prominent in the early history of that state.

Begins as School Teacher.

Like many other men who have attained prominence, Dr. Kendrick began his career as a country school teacher, teaching in the public schools near his home. His efficient work soon attracted the attention of the county school officials and he was elevated to the head of a prominent educational institution in his own county, remaining in this capacity for five years.

However, a desire to enter the profession of medicine long entertained, carried him to Rome, Ga., where he began study under the late Dr. Robert Battey, and later came to the Atlanta Medical college for graduation, receiving his diploma in 1874.

Following his graduation he took a special course in Jefferson Medical college in Philadelphia. Returning to Georgia he was associated for a time with Dr. Willis Westmoreland.

Desiring to specialize in the treatment of eye, nose and throat ailments, he went to Europe and studied for a year in Paris and London universities. He then returned to his old home at Summerville and began the practice of medicine.

At the age of 28 years Dr. Kendrick married Miss Lula Groves, a Chattooga county girl whom he had known from childhood.

When Dr. J. C. Logan's health failed Dr. Kendrick was called to Atlanta to take charge of his practice while he went away to recuperate. Later, upon his death, Dr. Kendrick assumed the greater part of his practice.

Becomes Dean of College.

He was so successful in the profession that he was made proctor of the Atlanta Medical college and taught physical diagnosis in the same institution. In 1891 he was made professor of physical diagnosis and clinic of medicine. Upon the death of Dr. H. V. M. Miller, in 1895, Dr. Kendrick became dean of the college.

He was instrumental in consolidating the Atlanta Medical college and the Southern Medical college, under the name of the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, and, in 1905, led in the establishment of the Atlanta School of Medicine. In 1913 he aided in bringing together the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons and the School of Medicine, making again the Atlanta Medical college, since he and others wished to retain the old name.

In 1915 Dr. Kendrick was made senior professor of medicine at Emory university, which chair he held at the time of his death.

As a physician Dr. Kendrick was ranked with the country's leaders. He had the reputation of being one of the nation's best diagnosticians, having gone from time to time to distant states to pass upon troubles of patients that had puzzled their most skillful practitioners.

Active in Church Work.

Dr. Kendrick had leisure for very little of what is called recreative sports, finding his relaxation in his work and in his devotion to the Presbyterian church. He was active in religious work, being for years an elder in the

JERICHO IS TAKEN FROM TURK FORCES BY BRITISH JOSHUA

Capture of Historic City Gives General Allenby Several Strategic Roads Over Which to Move Men.

DAMASCUS-MECCA ROAD NOT FAR FROM JERICHO

With This Railroad Cut, the Turks Would Be in Trouble in Struggle Against the Arabs—Artillery Duels Continue on West Front.

New York, February 22.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—The British forces in Palestine have captured the city of Jericho, Australian troops entering the city on Thursday. Aside from its historical and sentimental importance, the capture of the city gives General Allenby control of a number of strategic roads over which to move his men and their supplies. Within twenty-four miles from the present British position, is the railroad from Damascus to Mecca, which has been the artery which has fed the Turkish forces operating against the Arabian tribesmen. If this road were cut, it would give the tribesmen great advantage in their struggle.

The heavy artillery of both sides is thundering over wide stretches of the French front, along the Aisne, in Champagne and up in Alsace. No infantry fighting is reported, but the activity of the enemy artillery will serve to keep the allies on the lookout, for a storm of heavy German shells always has been the prelude to a hostile attack. The Germans claim to have brought down twenty-four allied airplanes and two captive balloons in the past three days.

AUSTRIANS MASS ON ITALIAN FRONT.

Washington, February 22.—Official dispatches from Rome today interpret the recent closing of the Swiss frontier by Austria to indicate troop movements to the Italian frontier in preparation for a renewed offensive.

Italian aviators, the dispatches says, report continued arrivals of fresh enemy troops from the Russo-Rumainian front. General Boreovic, who recently assumed supreme command, displacing Archduke Eugene by order of Emperor Charles, is said to be planning his offensive between the Astico and Lake Garda.

AUSTRALIA TROOPS ENTER JERICHO; OPPOSITION SLIGHT

London, February 22.—The British have captured Jericho, in Palestine, the war office reports.

The city was entered by Australian troops yesterday. Little opposition was encountered. Later the Australians established themselves on the line of the Jordan and the Wadi Auja.

The official statement reports the continuation of bad weather. North and northwest of Jerusalem the British advanced positions were extended slightly and rendered secure. During the fighting of Wednesday the casualties of the British troops were again slight.

The text of the communication follows:

"Yesterday morning after an uneventful night our forces operating east of Jerusalem resumed their advance toward Jericho. Little opposition was encountered, and at 8:20 a. m. Australian mounted troops entered the village, subsequently establishing themselves on the line of the Jordan and the Wadi Auja.

"The weather continues bad, with mist and heavy rain.

"Our casualties in the fighting Wednesday again were slight. Forty-six Turkish prisoners were taken between Tuesday and Thursday.

"North and northwest of Jerusalem our advanced positions were slightly extended and secured."

Since the capture of Jerusalem the British have been pushing ahead steadily, striking out to the north and east. Official statements from London in the last few days have reported rapid progress, and apparently the Turks have offered no determined resistance.

Aside from it historical importance, in connection with the British plan to free the Holy Land from the domination of the Turks, the capture of Jericho is of little significance. It consists merely of a group of squalid hovels and a few shops, with about 300 inhabitants. Its chief strategic value lies in the fact that it gives the British domination of the valley of Jordan and also control of a net work of highways raidiating from the town. A further advance eastward of 25 miles, however, would take the British to the railway from Damascus to Mecca, which would cut off the Turks' line of communication with Arabia and greatly assist the revolting Arab tribes which are co-operating with the British. Jericho is near the northern extremity of the Dead sea, 14 miles northeast of Jerusalem.

The ancient Jericho, which was situated to the west of the modern Jericho, was a town of considerable size. It was the first Cananite city to be reduced by the Israelites who, the Biblical story relates, encompassed its destruction by the blowing of trumpets.

ARTILLERY DUELS REPORTED HEAVY ON FRENCH FRONT

Paris, February 22.—Heavy artillery fighting on the whole front is reported in today's official announcement.

The statement follows:

HOOVER'S WARNING OF COMING FAMINE POOHED BY M'ADOO

Railway Director Says So Far as Transportation Is Concerned, There Will Be No Food Shortage.

STATEMENT OF HOOVER NOT BORNE OUT BY FACTS

Alleged That Hoover Dealt in Generalities, and There Is No Evidence to Justify Such Pessimistic Outlook. McAdoo Writes to Hoover.

Washington, February 22.—Director General McAdoo today gave assurance "that so far as transportation is concerned, there is no danger of suffering from a serious food shortage in the eastern part of the country."

This was prompted by the warning given last night by Food Administrator Hoover that unless grain and meat movement is greatly increased in the next sixty days, the country is threatened with an acute shortage of food, and the program of food shipments to the allies will fail.

In a letter to Mr. Hoover, the director general declared that if the food administration will give definite information on the location of stocks of supplies intended for the allies, the railroads will move them promptly to seaboard. Simultaneously the railroad administration gave out figures showing that the movement of grain to primary markets in the west within the last ten days was far greater than in previous years.

Although declaring their desire to avoid controversy with the food administration, officials of the railroad directorate tonight did not conceal their belief that Mr. Hoover's statement was not borne out by facts shown in their report. Members of Mr. McAdoo's staff assumed the attitude that Mr. Hoover had dealt in generalities, not supported by figures or other evidences showing such a pessimistic outlook on future food conditions.

McAdoo to Hoover.

Writing to Mr. Hoover, Mr. McAdoo said:

"You are, as I understand it, the sole purchaser in this country of food supplies for the allied governments. You must, therefore, know the location of the food supplies which you from time to time purchase and the ports in this country to which you desire such supplies shipped.

"If you will notify me from time to time of the location of the specific supplies and the port or ports in the United States to which you wish to have such supplies transported, I will guarantee the necessary transportation, subject alone to interruptions from blizzards and floods.

"I wish to reassure the country by saying that, so far as transportation is concerned, there is no danger of suffering from a serious food shortage in the eastern part of the country."

The food administration upon receipt of the letter issued this statement:

"While Mr. Hoover is out of town, food administration officials consider Mr. McAdoo's statement very reassuring, since it indicates that further cars will be furnished in western terminals and that the shortage from these western terminals to eastern territory now will be overcome. As the railway directorate are evidently alive to the situation they will no doubt take all necessary steps."

Roads Taking All Grain Offered.

A railroad administration statement, without referring to Mr. Hoover's declaration that the domestic and allied food situation can be solved only by loading 8,000,000 bushels of grain a day for the next sixty days, explained that already 6,000,000 bushels of grain are being loaded daily and even better loading is in prospect. Unofficially it was declared that practically all the grain being offered by farmers and local elevators was being hauled by the railroads under general priority orders for foodstuffs, particularly for grain in the west. It was suggested that farmers might not be bringing their grain to market as fast as they should. Railroad officials also called attention to the fact that potato growers last fall held much of their crop for higher prices, and that condition is partly responsible for the extraordinary offering at this time of potatoes which the railroads are having some difficulty moving.

Referring to the general food moving situation, the railroad administration statement said:

"There has now been about two weeks of moderately good weather during which time an extraordinary effort has been put forth by the railroads. For the week ending February 16, 22,104,000 bushels of grain were received at western primary markets, which were the largest receipts for one week in two years, an increase of 54 per cent over the previous week and 51 per cent over the same week last year.

"The average number of cars of grain being loaded is 5,000, which is approximately 6,000,000 bushels daily. This has been done notwithstanding that weather conditions are still severe in a large part of the country

NO WHEAT FLOUR FOR NEXT 60 DAYS

Hoover Says That Americans Must Give It Up for the Allies or War Will Be Lost in Short While.

Philadelphia, February 22.—As a war necessity the people must largely refrain from eating wheat flour for the next sixty days, possibly for a longer period. This statement was made today on the authority of Herbert C. Hoover, federal food administrator, by Howard Heinz, administrator for Pennsylvania, speaking before an audience of newspaper managers. A telegram was read from Mr. Hoover which made it plain that this country must immediately send food to the allies or lose the war. If it is not sent, it meant but one thing, catastrophe, declared Mr. Hoover.

The telegram from the food administrator follows:

"The food situation of the allies grows more critical every week. Their own short crops coupled with ever-increasing shortage of shipping, which limits the importations more and more to food from the nearest markets, make the responsibility of America in the provision of food for the allies even greater. All our efforts must be redoubled to meet the absolute necessities of our associates in the war during the months to pass before the next harvest. Unless we do meet them the war cannot go on.

"I appeal therefore with renewed earnestness to the people of Pennsylvania and to our people all over the land to give their support to the attempts of the food administration to solve this food problem. Every measure adopted has for its first aim the winning of the war. The latest measure restricting the purchases and use of wheat flour by food manufacturers, bakers, wholesalers and retailers has been adopted only after much thought and because it is the only way by which the necessary wheat saving can be effected. It is only by the help of all the people and their whole-hearted acceptance and support of the measures adopted by the food administration that the situation can be met. Without this help the food cannot be sent. If it is not sent it means but one thing—catastrophe."

WISCONSIN ON TRIAL BEFORE THE NATION

April 2 Voters Will Elect U. S. Senator to Fill Husting Vacancy.

Madison, Wis., February 22.—Governor Philipp, of Wisconsin, tonight called a special election for April 2 to choose a United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the accidental death last October of Paul O. Husting.

A statement issued by Governor Philipp tonight declared that he called the election against his will and that responsibility for the election rests on the "political propagandists" who carried on a campaign for it.

"I am firmly of the opinion that the best interests of the people of Wisconsin demand that we shall not now call a special election to fill the vacancy," the statement said. "I did not wish a mistake to be made by the selection of a successor who would embarrass the national administration at this time, or place the people of the state in any false light before the country and the soldiers and sailors from this state.

"For these and reasons set forth in my recent message to the legislature, I have advocated that the vacancy be filled temporarily by appointment by the governor.

"Under the statute governing special elections not less than 35 nor more than 40 days can elapse from the time of the call until the election is held. I believe this too short to make a campaign such as should be made by a candidate for United States senator.

"A vicious campaign has, however, been carried on in this state against giving me power to make such an appointment and the legislature promptly rejected the bill I presented which would give me power, notwithstanding the fact that similar power had been given governors in thirty-four states."

Governor Philipp had announced that if given the power he would appoint Congressman Lenroot.

"I hope the people who forced this election have the same high standard of man in mind," he said.

RUSS ARMY'S DEBACLE SEEMS TO BE COMPLETE; NAVY ALSO IN BAD WAY

Feared That Russian Baltic Fleet Will Fall Into Hands of the Germans—Reported Russ Peace Courier Has Reached Berlin, But Germans Are Not Talking Peace—Their Armies Push to Eastward.

New York, February 22.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—Facing absolute subjection at the hands of the advancing Germans, the Russian premier and commander-in-chief have taken what steps they could to initiate at least a nominal defense against the invaders of their country. Orders directing that guerrilla warfare be carried on and placing Petrograd in a state of siege, have been issued by Lenine and Krylenko, and it is expected that the Germans will meet with some resistance before long.

That the Teutons can be temporarily checked, however, is doubted, even in Petrograd. The Russian army's debacle apparently is so complete that there is no shadow of authority over its units. Berlin reports that the first Esthonian regiment has deserted in a body and offered its services to the German commander who is operating in the northernmost Baltic province. The Russian navy, too, is completely disorganized, and, while it is desired to withdraw the warships from Reval and Helsingfors to Kronstadt, it is believed that this operation is impossible, in view of the disuse into which the Baltic fleet has fallen. Only the submarine boats are in a seaworthy condition, it is reported.

GERMANS PUSH TO EASTWARD.

There is, as yet, no definite advices as to the rumored fall of the Lenine-Trotzky government. The proclamation directing that resistance be offered to the German advance, however, did not bear the name of Trotzky who, hitherto, has been a virtual dictator, which may be significant.

The Germans have pushed still farther eastward in the past 24 hours. In the far north, the village of Hapsal, on the south coast of the Gulf of Finland, has been captured. Further south the city of Reishitza, about 100 miles east of Riga, has been entered by the Teutons, who report that they were welcomed by the people. Still farther south, the village of Leuzin, east of Minsk, has been taken.

It is noticeable that the German official reports are silent as to any progress in the region of Lutsk, but Austrian troops, under General von Linsingen, who "are aiding Ukraine in her struggle for freedom," according to the Berlin report, have moved eastward and have joined forces with Ukrainian forces which are converging on the fortress of Dubno.

RUSS PEACE COURIER ARRIVES IN BERLIN.

Amsterdam, February 22.—A Russian courier with the peace proposals of the Russian government has arrived in Berlin, according to advices received here. The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, the German semi-official organ, says the reopening of the negotiations with the Russians cannot be expected for some time.

Dr. von Kuehlmann the German foreign secretry, says the newspaper, will employ the interval in conducting negotiations with Rumania, for which purpose he left for Bucharest Thursday. The Rumanian delegate already has arrived there.

WISCONSIN TO BLOT INSIGNIA OF KAISER

Madison, Wis., February 22.—The upper house of the Wisconsin legislature today passed a resolution to blot from the state house the German imperial insignia which adorns one of the figures in a painting on the wall of the senate chamber.

NINE PERSONS PERISH WHEN HOME IS BURNED

Peabody, Kans., February 22.—Nine persons, members of the family of Morris Miller, lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the Miller home near here early today.

Reuben Miller, a boy of 12, who was employed on a neighboring farm was the only member of the family who escaped. The blaze was discovered by a neighbor and when firemen arrived the house was in ruins. Miller, his wife and seven children, ranging in age from 20 years to a baby girl of two months, fell victims to the flames.

"Eat Fish! Get the Habit!"

That's the advice and request of the Federal government, given through the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

The government wants you to eat fish so as to conserve meat supplies. It has made careful experiments as a result of which it says:

"Analysis shows that fish meat contains as much BODY-BUILDING FOOD as beefsteak." And again: "You could replace all other meats with fish every day in the year without ill effects."

Just What We Have Told You

The U. S. government is telling you just what we have been saying to you for many years. You cannot get a better, a more substantial or a more nourishing food.

Here are a few of our good ones today: Mackerel, Snapper, Pompano, Trout, Smelts, Halibut, Finnan Haddie, Cropple, Perch, Whiting, Shrimp, Chesapeake Bay Oysters and many others.

CARSON CONVICTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Jerome Yarter, Former Policeman, Was the Star Witness for the Prosecution, Telling Story of Hold-Up.

G. C. Carson was found guilty of complicity in the robbery of A. H. Boykin, paymaster of the Martel Manufacturing company, by a jury in Judge Ben Hill's division of the criminal court at 7 o'clock Friday night. The robbery occurred December 2, 1916. The star witness for the state appeared in the person of Jerome Yarter, former policeman, who is serving a sentence for the theft of an automobile, and was brought from the penitentiary to testify against his alleged accessory.

Yarter told an impressive story, and his confession implicated B. H. McWhorter, C. W. Garr and Paul Estes, in addition to Carson. He told the jury in detail how he had held up his victim at the point of a pistol while Carson had struck him over the head with a club. All efforts on the part of counsel for the defense to break down the damaging testimony of the witness were futile.

In addition to the evidence of Yarter, Silicitor John A. Boykin produced witnesses who testified that Carson was known to have been out of funds just previous to the robbery and had been borrowing small sums, and that immediately after the crime, he was seen by several people flashing a large roll of bills.

Paul Estes, one of the accused men included in the confession of Yarter, has been tried on a charge of complicity in the robbery of J. A. Black, of the Armour Fertilizer company, and acquitted.

STEPHEN P. HILL DYING AT THE GRADY HOSPITAL

Walks Into Reception Room of Kimball and Shoots Himself Twice.

Stephen P. Hill, a man about 40 years old, living at 316 Grand Opera House building, walked into the reception room on the second floor of the Kimball house and shot himself twice in the left side, just below the heart, Friday afternoon about 12:30 o'clock.

Hearing the report, many persons standing in the lobby of the hotel, including Chief Beavers, ran into the room and found Hill lying on the floor in an unconscious condition. The Grady ambulance was summoned and Hill rushed to the hospital.

No means of identification was found in the pockets of Hill, except a message written on the back of a letter, which read: "Notify Mrs. Hill, Ivy 5388."

Ivy 5388 is the number of the office of Babcock & Wilcox, at 1132 Candler building; but the office was closed when visited by city detectives. When R. A. Barrett, manager of the concern, was notified at his home, he stated that Mrs. Hill was a stenographer for the firm and lived in the Grand building.

At the Grady, Hill soon began to regain consciousness, but refused to talk when questioned by the physicains who stated that all he said was, "You've got my number."

Hill was visited by his wife early Friday night, as she could not be located earlier.

Up to an early hour Friday night, it was reported, Hill was in a serious condition, little hope being held for his recovery.

Friends say Hill had been in poor health for some time, and believe this may have caused him to try suicide.

CHANGE OF SABBATH, SUBJECT OF HAYNES AT GRAND TOMORROW

The fifth address of the long series of Sunday night addresses being delivered in the Grand theater by Carlyle B. Haynes will be held Sunday night. These meetings are attracting the largest Sunday night audience in Atlanta, between two and three thousand people attending each one.

In his address on Sunday night Mr. Haynes, who is an author as well as a minister, will present the entire historical and Biblical evidence bearing on the change of the Sabbath from the seventh to the first day of the week. This subject will be presented to respond to numerous requests and questions received in the question and answer service which the lecturer conducts at the close of each address.

The Grand has been so crowded during the four Sunday night meetings which have been held that announcement is made that children unaccompanied by adults will not be admitted. The doors are opened at 6:30 o'clock.

The Bible institute which Mr. Haynes is conducting nightly in the First Seventh Day Adventist church at Cherokee avenue and Orleans street, facing Grant park, is being largely attended, people coming from all parts of the city and the suburbs to receive the instruction which is being given there by Mr. Haynes. These meetings of the institute will continue for a period of weeks, and this coming week the subjects on which Mr. Haynes will speak are as follows:

Monday night, "The New Testament Sabbath;" Tuesday night, "The Law and the Gospel;" Wednesday night, "Is God Particular?" Thursday night, "The Seven Seals;" Friday night, "The Great Seal of Jehovah."

All of these meetings begin at 7:30 o'clock. On Sunday night, March 3, Mr. Haynes will deliver a special address in the Grand on the subject of "Heaven, Hell and Purgatory."

PREACHER IS SCORED BY PEOPLE OF BROOKS

A preacher in Brooks county is "in bad" with the people of his community, according to a letter received by Federal Food Administrator Dr. A. M. Soule, from the food administrator of Brooks county, who declares that he is an "un-American minister." The letter states that when told by his grocer that he was expected to buy an equal quantity of other cereal when purchasing wheat flour, he declared "if the United States wants anybody to eat sawdust, let them feed it to the soldiers."

It is stated that the minister in question, while not a naturalized American, is a subject of Great Britain and should be loyal to the cause of the allies if not to the country of his adoption.

HINES WILL OPPOSE PARK FOR JUDGESHIP

Milledgeville, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Judge J. B. Park, of Greensboro, of the Ocmulgee circuit, will be opposed in the next election by Hon. E. R. Hines, of this city, according to a statement of Mr. Hines to friends. Mr. Hines is well known throughout Georgia, is a graduate of the law department of the University of Virginia and Emory college and some years ago represented Baldwin county in the lower house. He is a law partner of Representative Carl Vinson. Mr. Hines will make a public announcement soon. His friends predict his election.

HOFFMAN HAS PLAN TO INCREASE FOOD PRODUCTION HERE

Municipal activities will be directed toward a measure of partial relief of a possible food shortage in Atlanta, if the plans now under discussion are carried out. It has been suggested that 300 lots taken over by the city for nonpayment of tax be used during the approaching season for garden purposes.

The suggestion was made by W. D. Hoffman, councilman from the eighth ward, who is chairman of the improvements committee of the council and has suggested that the lots be leased out for cultivation. All available ground on the waterworks reservation will be cultivated to the full extent of its agricultural possibilities and, although in past years large crops of hay have been raised, it is planned this year to increase the acreage and to cultivate a variety of crops.

According to the intentions expressed by Dr. Claude A. Smith, city bacteriologist and chemist, the city farm on Peachtree street will be worked to the limit of its possible yield and additional work will be done beyond that previously done to raise feed crops for the dairy maintained in connection.

REQUISITION IS ASKED FOR ESCAPED CONVICT

An application has been made to Governor Dorsey by the prison commission for a requisition on the governor of New Jersey for Andrew Patterson, a negro convict who escaped from the Decatur county convict gang in 1916. He was serving a life sentence for murder committed in Tattnall county.

Two requisitions have been received at the governor's office for prisoners wanted in other states. Governor Catts, of Florida, asks the state to deliver to the Florida authorities D. J. Jeffords, wanted in that state on a charge of disposing of lands under lien.

Samuel Parmly is wanted in Illinois to be tried on a charge of working a confidence game and securing $6,600. A requisition has been received for him bearing the signature of Acting Governor Oglesby of that state.

RAIL DIRECTOR PLANS NO IMMEDIATE CHANGE

Markham Says Plans for Discontinuance of Competitive Passenger Trains Not New.

Referring to the local effect of the announcement contained in dispatches from Washington that the director general of railroads contemplates a change in the passenger service system to eliminate fast passenger service on some of the paralleling lines, Regional Director C. H. Markham, of the southern district, states that his office has nothing further to say about this at present.

It is stated that the plan is not new and that there are no immediate prospects of drastic changes. In the opinion of those most familiar with prevailing conditions, it would not be the policy of the department to make changes sufficiently radical to detrimentally effect the movement of passengers whose transportation is necessary to avoid interference with the maintenance of efficient industrial service.

It is considered probable that when investigation by the director general's office develops the fact that fast passenger trains in certain sections of the country are hauling unfilled coaches, an effort will be made to adjust competing schedules upon a plane which will insure equally efficient service and eliminate the unnecessary hauling of rolling stock.

Pan-Hellenic Bridge.

The Atlanta Pan-Hellenic will give a benefit bridge at the Capital City club on Tuesday afternoon, March 5, the proceeds of which will be used for the relief work being done by this organization in the base hospital at Camp Gordon.

Many interesting entertainments are being given by patriotic organizations and individuals, both at the camp and in the city, but the sorority women are centering their efforts on the work of brightening the corners and adding a bit of cheer for these patients who are not able to avail themselves of the numerous amusements furnished for their benefit.

Among the things being done for the ill men is the furnishing of jellies and dainties for Sunday night supper, and it is for the work in the ward adopted by this organization that the Pan-Hellenic appeals to the club women of the city to support them in this. There will be a prize for top score at each table, and several very handsome prizes will be drawn for.

An especial invitation is extended to the families of army men who are in the city. It is a splendid opportunity for those who have no permanent homes to have friends for a game in the most pleasant surroundings, and at the same time contribute to the comfort and happiness of those who are ill in the ward and unable to provide for themselves.

The Pan-Hellenic bridge parties have always been among the most delightful events on the social calendar, and they will doubtless uphold their past reputation and make the afternoon's entertainment interesting for all who attend.

Tickets may be procured by phoning Mrs. H. H. Johnson, Hemlock 1498-J.

Wai Ki Ki Club.

The Wai Ki Ki club will entertain at their regular informad dance this evening at their hall on East Pine street. A large number have been invited and a delightful time is planned for every one present. Members of other clubs are invited.

Founder's Day At Agnes Scott.

With the most beautiful ceremony ever held at a college noted for these events, the seniors of Agnes Scott last night inaugurated the observance of Founder's day in honor of George Scott, whose birthday, like that of the father of his country, is on February 22.

Founder's day has now been placed on the college calendar and will be observed as a holiday and with due ceremony each year hereafter.

Festivities began in the two dining halls which were richly decorated in keeping with the spirit of the occasion, cherry trees, hatchets, the national colors and colors of the allies being used.

The students were dressed in colonial costumes, while members of the senior class took the parts of George Washington, Martha Washington, Betsy Ross, Columbia and the allied nations.

At the conclusion of a turkey dinner George Washington called upon Murphey Candler, trustee of the college, for a speech and Mr. Candler responded with a fine tribute to George Scott, but added that President Gaines and Miss Hopkins, the dean, must be added to complete the list of those who had been most instrumental in the growth of the institution.

Near the end of the dinner Paul Revere rode in on a broomstick with a message from the front, which proved to be the first announcement of who had been selected to constitute the varsity basketball team.

After adjournment to the chapel, where Mr. Candler gave another speech, telling some interesting incidents in the history of the college, the student body went to the gym, where the seniors danced a minuet. A grand march and Virginia reel, in which all participated, ended a most enjoyable evening.

Agnes Scott Alumnae.

Agnes Scott Alumnae association are requested to meet in the college chapel at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Dr. W. G. Perry, of the Georgia School of Technology, will make an address and Miss Marion Black, of Montgomery, will also speak.

Cummings Is Appointed Shipbuilding District Fire Marshal for U. S.

W. B. Cummings, for eight years chief of the Atlanta fire department, of which he was a member for thirty-five years, has accepted an appointment by the United States shipping board as supervising fire marshal of the fourth shipbuilding district, and will at once take up his new duties.

The fourth shipbuilding district comprises the territory embraced in the states of Georgia, Florida and North and South Carolina. Mr. Cummings will assume control and supervise the fire fighting forces at each of the shipbuilding plants in the district.

His new duties will impose upon him the responsibility of safeguarding millions of dollars invested by the government in shipbuilding plants in this territory. Mr. Cummings will have headquarters in Jacksonville, but his position will require that he pay constant visits to the various plants in the district.

SHAW FINED ON CHARGE OF SHORT COAL WEIGHT

R. H. Shaw, yard manager for one of the coal yards of the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation, was tried before Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon and fined $11 on the charge of having sold two tons of coal which weighed 520 pounds short of the amount charged for.

The case was made against Shaw by Harry D. White, city inspector of weights and measures, who testified that he examined the scales in the yard where Shaw worked, and found them to be badly out of balance, and when the recorder asked Shaw how long the scales had been in that condition the yard manager declared he did not know. The recorder made the comment that it was passing strange that when scales were found to be out of balance that they usually were favorable to the dealer.

Shaw was fined and ordered to have the scales fixed at once.

BOND ISSUE ELECTION AUTHORIZED BY MAYOR

The ordinance that provided for the election to be held March 25, to determine the $800,000 bond issue, which was approved Thursday afternoon by the aldermanic board, was signed Friday by Mayor Asa G. Candler, and the election is now officially called.

Announcement has been made that an active campaign will be made to push the election to a success, and that a number of the members of the council will become active in the campaign.

The park commissioners and water commissioners from each ward will also be invited to enter the campaign actively.

As two-thirds of the number of those registered at the last city election are required by law to vote favorably for the issue of bonds in order to carry the election, the leaders in the movement realize that they must work quickly.

STRUCK BY STREET CAR, AGED MAN IS KILLED

W. C. Wade, a workman living near Buckhead, died shortly after he was struck by a Camp Gordon car at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, a short distance above Buckhead.

The street car was coming toward town loaded with passengers and, witnesses said, the old man stepped directly in front of the car, which struck him, knocking him off the track.

Members of the medical corps were on the car and quickly examined Wade and stated that his body was not crushed and that he must have died from the shock.

STREET CLOCKS MUST KEEP CORRECT TIME

As a result of an application from May Brothers, for the erection of a street clock in front of their place of business, and another from M. Greer, a jeweler at the same address, the aldermanic board has ordered that in the future all clocks on the city streets must be made to keep correct time.

In granting the petitions the aldermanic board recalled an old law of the city which provides that all clocks placed upon the streets of the city must be kept in good order and that they must register correct time.

CARDUI A SPLENDID TONIC

For Women, Says Hixson Lady, Who Took This Medicine on Her Doctor's Advice.

Hixson, Tenn.—Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place, makes the following statement regarding her experience with Cardui: "I was . . . I suffered with a pain in my left side; could not sleep at night for this pain—always in the left side. My feet and legs were terribly swollen. I was almost in bed.

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me, and after my baby came I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there. I at first let it go, but I began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did. The last Cardui I took made me much better, and, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble. I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

If you feel weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It must be a good medicine for women, for many thousands have voluntarily told, just as Mrs. Gadd did, of the good it has done them. Ask some lady friend who has tried Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Then get a bottle from your nearest druggist—(adv.)

Junior League Ball Was Big Patriotic Celebration

As picturesque and beautiful a spectacle as it was brilliant in social interest, the annual Junior League ball last night at the Piedmont Driving club, a George and Martha Washington celebration, was one of the most noteworthy events of the winter, and four hundred guests were assembled to enjoy it.

Miss Isoline Campbell, president of the league, and Miss Marian Stearns, general chairman of the ball, were assisted by the members of the league, the successive debutante sets of several seasons, in receiving, and unique features varied the program of entertainment.

As an incentive to an early beginning of the ball, a handsome prize, a shaded lamp donated by M. Rich & Bros. Co., was cut for by the young women participating in the first dance at 9 o'clock.

Grand March Begins.

Dancing continued until 10 o'clock, when a grand march was formed, Captain Joseph Brown Connally leading with Miss Julia Murphy, of the present season's debutante set. A period incident of the processional was the Martha Washington costume of the Junior league members, these costumes a pretty anachronism in contrast with the 1918 garb of the gentlemen, many of them in the olive drab of another struggle for the freedom of democracy.

The ballroom decoration was a happy reminder of that most popular legend of the boyhood of the father of his country, the cherry-tree episode. An orchard of the trees in full bloom was the setting for the birthday celebration. Each tree was set in a black tub on which were painted white silhouettes of gracious figures in the poses of the minuet. Along the white walls were other silhouettes in black of George and Martha, and overhead the three large chandeliers were showered with cherry blossoms.

Living Pictures Shown.

At the far end of the room, between two large cherry trees in bloom, was the large gold picture frame, draped with a black and gold curtain, in which were shown the tableaux vivants. The Willingham-Tift Lumber company made and donated the frame, and the W. E. Browne Decorating company designed and furnished the draperies for the tableaux.

At 10:30, when "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played by the orchestra and the curtains were drawn, George Washington was saluted, Mr. E. M. Horine cast for the part.

George and Martha in the second picture with the Custis children were represented by Mr. Horine and Miss Elizabeth Hawkins.

Betsy Ross and her friends making the first American flag were a charming group represented by Miss Ann Patterson and Misses Nellie Dodd, Georgia Rice and Madeline McCullough.

The final tableaux showed Miss Marian Stearns as "America," and as she stepped from the frame she was met by Captain de Beaurieux of the army of France, and they led the way to supper.

They passed through the loggia, which had been made into a colonial drawing room, furnished with old mahogany pieces and decorated with palms and flowers donated by the Lawrence company, Dahl and West View. Tall silver candelabra of the colonial period burned white candles, and a spinning wheel was a pretty detail.

In the dining room, a long buffet table was spread down the center, and laden with the dishes which were part of a delicious supper.

Portraits in oils of George and Martha Washington, lent by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cooney, and a number of other old-fashioned portraits contributed by other friends adorned the walls, and many old silver candlesticks burned white candles, the only illumination permitted, modern electricity being eliminated for the occasion. Flags and spinning wheels were further appropriate details.

During the supper a group of pretty girls danced a minuet, and five talented soldiers from Camp Gordon did clever songs and dances.

The proceeds of the ball will go toward the various good works which the Junior league supports or aids.

Jewish Charity Ball Success Is Assured; Workers Enthusiastic

With Percy Rich as general chairman of the Jewish charity ball and Julian Boehm, vice chairman, a brilliant social event at the Auditorium-Armory is assured next Tuesday night. Mr. Boehm was chairman of the ball last year, and he has created much enthusiasm among the large number of workers on the several committees working for the success of the ball.

The proceeds, in addition to aiding the work of the non-sectarian Hirsch Free Clinic and Schoen Free Kindergarten, which is open to gentiles and Jews, will also be prorated among the various local Jewish charities of Atlanta, the most notable of which is the Montefiore Relief association, which under the auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Jewish Charities, is the distributing agency of relief to the poor. Through this agency families have been reconciled, a free loan bureau launched, which has started many a deserving man in business on a small scale, and supplied widows with food and raiment for their children, furnishing school books, a nurse to the sick and individual attention to worthy cases.

The Atlanta Federation of Jewish Charities, originally sponsored by Rabbi David Marx, Isaac Schoen, its first president; Jack Hirsch, who succeeded him as president, and other influential Atlanta Jews, has corelated the philanthropic work of the Jewish people to avoid overlapping and duplication of effort. All the proceeds of the coming ball go to charity direct, and with the exception of the nominal salary for a secretary, the regular subscriptions to the Atlanta Federation of Jewish Charities are distributed to meet the requirements of the needy.

Under the successful administration of William Rich, president of the Atlanta Federation of Jewish Charities, who heads the organization again this year, one of the most useful years in its history has just closed.

William E. Hightower, Missing Three Years, Sought by Relatives

After conducting a vain search of more than three years for William Earl Hightower, a young man who mysteriously disappeared from his home in Atlanta, August 13, 1914, relatives have appealed to the newspapers in the hope that some information as to his whereabouts may be obtained.

Young Hightower was formerly a leather designer in the employ of the Atlanta Buggy company at East Point. On August, 1914, without announcing his intentions to anyone he left the plant, drew out all the money he had deposited in banks, and since that time all trace of him has been lost.

His parents died when he was but a child and for several years he had lived with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry E. Reynolds, at 517 Courtland street. She states that she can assign no motive as to why he should wish to leave. Since he had a considerable sum of money with him it is feared that he may have met with foul play.

He is described as 28 years of age, tall and of slender build, with dark hair, brown eyes and was accustomed to wear glasses. A number of secret orders in Atlanta, of which he was a member, have also made efforts to locate him. He has one sister, Miss Nell Hightower, who is connected with the American Savings bank, of Los Angeles, Cal.

News was received in the city Friday of the death of Dan H. Ball, of Marquette, Mich., brother of Mrs. Henry Lewis, of 41 Elmira place. Mr. Ball, who was one of the best known and most capable lawyers of Michigan, was often a visitor to Atlanta at the home of his sister, and had made a number of friends in this city. He was 82 years old at the time of his death, which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John M. Stone, of Houghton, Mich., where he had gone on a brief visit. He is survived by his wife and three children. The funeral will take place at the home in Marquette.

WANT 20,000 GARDENS WITHIN CITY LIMITS

Work of Enrolling and Registering Prospective Gardeners Will Begin at Once.

Twenty thousand growing gardens within the confines of Atlanta is the expectation of the home and community garden committee of the chamber of commerce. After the meeting of the subcommittee appointed to meet with representatives of organizations, institutions and societies interested in the work, it was announced that a plan of concerted action had been evolved and the work of enrolling and registering the prospective gardeners will begin at once.

The work of the committee is designed to include the distribution of instructive garden literature, systematic allottment of vacant lots, collection and distribution of fertilizer, the establishment of a central point in each ward for canning purposes, employment and direction of labor for plowing and the employment of efficient instructors to demonstrate gardening and canning in the various districts.

The Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs has aligned itself with the committee for co-operative work. This organization already has a registration of 3,000 war gardens already enrolled and has successfully carried on the work during the past two seasons.

In response to the call of the committee, representatives of practically every food producing agency in the city have appeared and expressed a desire to cooperate. In addition to the raising of vegetables and fruits for consumption during the growing season, it is stated that the committee is going after a record of canned goods put up for the winter which will astonish the city.

DECISION IS POSTPONED IN COAST LINE CASE

Pending the announcement of the plans of Director General of Railroads William G. McAdoo, the Railroad Commission has postponed its decision on the application of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad for permission to discontinue the handling of special trains, special cars and private cars.

In explanation of the postponement it is stated that as advices from Washington announce that plans are being considered for adoption of this measure on all railroads, it is deemed advisable to delay action in the matter until the director general's order shall be issued establishing a ruling for nationwide regulation.

LUXURY FOR SORE FEET

Skin specialists have discovered that painful, perspiring and swollen feet with corns, bunions and ingrowing nails are all caused by germs which grow in the pores of the skin, causing decay of the cuticle, irritation, rawness, eczema, inflammation and odor. These germs are instantly destroyed by Eucapine, the antiseptic, healing salve applied after bathing at bedtime. It draws out all the inflammation and soreness before morning, destroys the germs and restores healthy condition to the skin and nails.

It is explained that ingrowing nails do not really grow down into the flesh, as supposed, but that the flesh, being swollen, is pressed up over the nail. The Eucapine takes out the swelling and inflammation, destroys the germs and the trouble disappears. Corns and bunions gradually disappear in the same manner by removing the cause.

Eucapine is the modern scientific treatment for pain, inflammation and germ infections of the skin and mucous membranes and has many daily uses in every home. Ask your druggist to order you a large family jar, which costs only twenty-five cents—(adv.)

DAVIS ENTERTAINS FOR AGENCY FORCE AT LUNCHEON FRIDAY

Harry I. Davis, manager for the Atlanta agency of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, entertained the agency force at a luncheon in the pine room of the Ansley hotel yesterday, Washington's birthday.

This agency, which embraces all of the north Georgia territory, is one of the most successful of all the various agencies the company maintains in this country, although established much later than many others. During the year 1917 it stood sixteenth in the number of policies written and registered a substantial increase over the preceding year.

Covers were laid at the luncheon for thirty-five. Decorations which blended the national colors with the colors and insignia of the company made an unusually pleasing combination.

W. Carroll Latimer, of Atlanta, spoke of the large and successful investments the company has made in Georgia and brought out numerous points of extreme interest. He was followed by A. B. Simms, vice president of the Fulton National bank, who spoke eloquently of the financial condition of Georgia at the present time.

Joseph C. Behan, superintendent of agencies from the home office, was an honored guest, having come specially from Springfield, Mass., to be present. His talk was enthusiastically received.

Other speakers who struck responsive notes included Carl Wolfsheimer, Miss Kate Uhlfelded and Sig Pappenheimer. A general discussion of present day factors in the business of life insurance closed the program.

A pleasing feature of the occasion was the presentation of a loving cup to Mr. Davis from the entire agency force, in appreciation of his services to them all.

Among those present were:

Messrs. E. Dillard, U. C. Wolfsheimer, J. R. Whelchel, J. R. Bauschenberg, S. Pappenheimer, H. S. Rice, T. L. Rochester, D. W. Wilson, G. H. Kilgore, J. D. Corn, R. B. Rollins, W. E. M. Dodson, G. W. Burnett, C. B. McClendon, F. M. Winn, J. W. Graham, A. B. Simms, W. C. Latimer, J. C. Behan, A. H. Milstead, H. I. Davis, Miss K. Uhlfelder, Mrs. Ellison, Mrs. H. I. Davis, Mrs. J. C. Behan, Miss S. Mathews, Dr. J. E. Sommerfield and others.

FAIR AND COLDER TODAY, SAYS THE WEATHER MAN

Fair skies with slightly lower temperature is the prediction sent out from the weather bureau for Georgia today, but the weather man promises that the sun will shine and that a fine warm day may be looked for Sunday.

The Atlanta weather office was closed Friday on account of Washington's birthday, and Mr. von Herrmann took advantage of the holiday, making no local prediction as to what may be expected during the next 24 hours, but the weather bureau in Washington was on the job, and the following prediction was sent out from that office: Fair and colder for Georgia Saturday, continued fair, but warmer on Sunday.

8,000 Men From Camp Gordon Enjoy Auditorium Entertainment

The 8,000 men from Camp Gordon who attended the entertainment given them Friday afternoon and evening at the Auditorium by the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association and the Atlanta Commission on Training Camp Activities may forget their sweethearts when they go to France, but there is not a chance that they will fail to remember the last Washington's birthday they spent "over here."

With everything arranged for their amusement and pleasure the soldiers found themselves at lost for something to wish for and gave themselves up to one big afternoon and evening.

French Lieutenant Lectures.

Beginning promptly at 4 o'clock the entertainment opened to a house which had been filled a good two hours before. Preceding the regular numbers of the program prepared by Lucien York and Ivan E. Allen was a lecture by Lieutenant Jean A. Picard, of the French army, who spoke upon life at the front.

At the conclusion of his address there was a confetti shower which was cleverly arranged to fall from the ceiling by means of red, white and blue streamers to instill a carnival spirit in the audience. Stirring music from a military band accompanied the fall of the confetti.

Pictures introducing the patriotic sentiment of the occasion followed the confetti. These in turn were followed by tableaus in which Wilson, Washington, Uncle Sam and the Statue of Liberty figured.

Girls Form Cross.

Perhaps the most beautiful portion of the entertainment was the little Red Cross girls who formed themselves into a cross on the stage and knelt and offered their aid to Wilson. The Atlanta Boy Scouts followed this number with a drill.

Manager Hugh Cardoza, of the Lyric, lent his Keith circuit members playing for the last half of the week in this city for the next feature of the afternoon. Members of the Camp Gordon Entertainers' league followed with some of their best talented selections.

At 6 o'clock in the evening supper was served the soldiers in Taft hall. It was a regular southern affair and the men from the east and the north did justice to the fried chicken and other southern dishes. The boxes were prepared by the ladies of Atlanta for the occasion and no delicacy was lacking. Even home-made candy, donated by the Business Women's league of the Second Baptist church, was there aplenty. A large supply of candy was also provided by the Norris Candy company.

More than 11,000 lunches had been provided by the ladies of the city and there were plenty and to spare for the soldier-guests. None of those left over will be wasted, however, as they will be utilized for the refreshments at the various clubs when the regular Saturday night visitors from camp are in town today. Each soldier was today given one box and in numbers of cases boxes were also furnished for other men who had been unable to leave camp, but who had not been forgotten by their more fortunate comrades.

Following the supper vaudeville selections were intermingled with Paramount comedy movies. The entertainment closed at 9 o'clock.

Many Merchants Present.

Over three hundred merchants were pesent to aid in the entertainment of the soldiers.

Committees were formed for the purpose of personally looking after the individual soldiers and picking out those who especially looked as if they needed cheering up. Merchants escorted their guests personally to seats and kept an eye on them afterwards.

Mrs. B. M. Boykin, who expected to be at the head of the woman's reception committee stationed early in the afternoon and late in the evening at the entrance door, was unable to be present owing to illness and Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin assumed her place.

One of the most attractive parts of the program to the soldierse was the dancing of little Miss Hazelle Johnson.

FACING SUBJECTION, RUSSIANS MAY FIGHT

gone over to the Germans, the war office announces.

The German troops advancing in Esthonia have captured Hapsal on the coast near the entrance to the Gulf of Finland and advanced beyond Ronneberg, Wolmer and Spandan.

They marched into Rieshitza, about 100 miles southeast of Riga, and were received with rejoicing by the inhabitants, the statement says.

Further south the Germans pushed on to Louzin. Minsk also was occupied. At Novogorod-Volhynski the Germans came into touch with Ukrainian and other columns marching on the Volhynian fortress of Dubno.

The communication follows:

"Army Group of General von Eichhorn: In Esthonia, Hapsal has been captured. The first Esthonian regiment has placed itself at the disposal of the German command.

"In Livonia our column pressed on beyond Ronneberg, Wolmer and Spandan. Our troops marched into Rieshitza amid the rejoicings of the inhabitants. Thence, they pushed on to Louzin, Minsk had been occupied.

"Army Group of General von Linsingen: Progress has been made in assisting Ukraine in her struggle for freedom. At Novogorod-Volhynski we came into touch with Ukrainian detachments and other columns marching on Dubno."

Esthonia is one of the Baltic provinces of Russia into which the Germans began an advance on the resumption of hostilities, giving the official explanation that these provinces were largely German and that the Bolsheviki were persecuting the inhabitants. Troops from Moon Island crossed to the mainland and captured several Esthonian towns, and another force was taken by boat to Reval.

DEFENSE TO DEATH AGAINST GERMANS URGED ON RUSSIANS

London, February 22.—"Defense to the death against Germany" is ordered in the proclamation of the Russian commissioners, Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs. The commissioners appeal to the soldiers to destroy railways and provisions and compel the bourgeoise to dig trenches under penalty of death.

The commissioners' appeal to the country also intimates that the Germans plan the capture of Petrograd.

"The German generals," it says, "desire to establish their own order in Petrograd and Kiev. The republic is in the gravest danger. The duty of Russian workmen and peasants is defense to the death, of the republic, against the masses of bourgeoise and imperialists of Germany."

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Petrograd says the evacuation of Finland has been ordered by the commissioners.

In the appeal for organization of a defense of the revolution against Germany the council of commissioners says:

"The socialist fatherland is in danger. In order to save the country in its exhaustion from further trials of war we resigned ourselves to making immense sacrifices. Our delegates on February 20 left Registky for Dvinsk, but up to the present no news from them has been received."

After stating that it is the duty of workmen and peasants to defend the republic to the death, the appeal continues:

"German militarism wishes to smother the working classes and the Ukrainian masses, to give back the land to the landowners, factories and work shops to the bankers and power to a monarchy."

Points in the Appeal.

Following are the points urged in the appeal:

"First. All the forces in the country in their entirety must place themselves at the service of the defense of the revolution.

"Second. All the council of workmen's and soldiers' revolutionary organizations must enter into the compulsory defense of each position to the last drop of their blood.

"Third. Organizations on railways and the soviets connected therewith are obliged with all their strength to check attempts of the enemy to profit by the equipment of lines of communication. In their retreat they must destroy the railways and blow up the stations. All rolling stock and locomotives must be sent eastward and into the interior of the country without delay.

"Fourth. Corn and provisions in general are placed on the same footing as valuable property when in danger of falling into the hands of the enemy and must then be destroyed without contradiction. The local soviets must see that these decisions are carried out and the responsibility falls upon their representatives.

"Fifth. Workmen and peasants of Petrograd, Kiev and all towns, villages and hamlets on the line of the new front must raise battalions to dig trenches under direction of the military socialists.

"Sixth. All members of the bourgeoise class, the women as well as the men, must enter these battalions under surveillance of the Red Guards and in case of resistance must be shot.

"Seventh. All institutions which offer resistance to the action of the revolution on the defensive and pass to the side of the German bourgeoise, or which have a tendency to profit by the invasion of the imperialistic masses in order to overthrow the authority of the soviets, must be closed. Directors of and collaborators with these institutions who are capable of work must mobilize themselves to dig trenches and engage in other defensive work.

"Eighth. Foreign agents and speculators are counted as revolutionary agitators and German spies must be shot at sight. The socialist fatherland is in danger. Long live the national social revolution!"

Revolutionary Mobilization Orders.

Petrograd, February 22.—"If the Germans refuse peace to Russia, a struggle to the death or victory for us is inevitable," says an official statement issued today. "The people's terrorism must be opposed to the advancing enemy," it is declared.

The statement says that detachments 1,000 to 1,500 strong, lightly armed and able to entrench quickly and attack determinedly, will be able to stop the German advance. What is characterized as "real revolutionary mobilization" is ordered.

Ensign Krylenko, the Bolshevik commander-in-chife, who issued the statement, says that if the people succeed in throwing against the enemy concentrated masses of revolutionary citizens, who, not only in accordance with military strategy, but also secretly, from every corner, everywhere in small detachments and large battalions—will struggle for every town, village, street and house, then there are no forces which the Germans can successfully oppose against them.

"The statement says that all able-bodied men must be ordered to work on fortifications and in the construction of obstacles along all the routes of the German advance. Any bourgeoisie who resists must be tried and forcibly compelled to work. Registration of facilities for the revolutionary army have been opened at all local councils and with the staffs of the Red army.

It is added that arms will be delivered by localities. Revolutionary discipline must be brought to the highest degree of efficiency by the handing over to the rovlutionary tribunals all who do not obey the order.

"All to arms! All to the defense of the revolution!" says the statement.

A general mobilization for the digging of trenches is ordered. The diggers will be under the orders of the councils, and every detachment will be commanded by responsible commissaries with unlimited powers.

Appeal to Russ Workmen.

The proclamation was issued at the order of the people's commissaries and is signed by Premier Lenine and Ensign Krylenko, the Bolsheviki commander-in-chief.

In a proclamation announcing that they had agreed to sign German peace terms, the people's commissaries declare they are firmly convinced that the German working classes will not permit the Russian revolution to be crushed by the militarists. Appeal is made to local councils to increase efforts to reorganize the Russian army. The proclamation, which is addressed to Russian workmen and peasants, says:

"We agreed to sign peace terms at the cost of enormous concessions in order to save the country from final exhaustion and the ruin of the revolution. Once more the German working class, in this threatening hour, has showed itself insufficiently determined to stay the strong criminal hand of its own militarism. We had no other choice but accept the conditions of German imperialism until a revolution changes or cancels them.

"The German government is not hastening to reply to us, evidently aiming to seize as many important positions in our territory as possible. The enemy has occupied Dvinsk, Werder and Lutsk and is continuing to strangle by hunger the most important centers of the revolution.

"We even now are convinced firmly that the German working classes will rise against the attempts of the ruling classes to stifle the revolution, but we cannot predict with certainty when this will occur. The German imperialists may hesitate at nothing for the purpose of destroying the authority of the councils and taking the land from the peasants.

"The commissaries call on all loyal councils and army organizations to use all efforts to re-create the army. Perverted elements of hooligans, marauders and cowards should be expelled from the ranks and, in the event of resistance, wiped off the face of the earth.

"The bourgeoise under Kerensky and the czar evaded the burden of war and profited from its misfortunes must be made to fulfill their duties by the most decisive and merciless measures."

and it will certainly increase in proportion as the weather moderates."

Big Grain Movement.

This statement was based on figures gathered by the traffic division of the railroad administration, headed by Edward Chambers, former traffic manager for the food administration. Other reports showed that in the nine days between February 11 and February 20, grain received at the principal elevators and milling centers of the west included 17,361,000 bushels of corn, much of which was the soft corn which is so prevalent this year, 9,329,000 bushels of oats and 2,446,000 bushels of wheat.

In the eight days between February 11 and February 19, 38,750 cars were loaded with grain, of which 26,549 were in the western district, or west of the Mississippi, 9,319 were in the eastern district, and 2,882 in the south.

Forty-two special food trains, containing 1,368 cars, were sent eastward from Chicago and East St. Louis to New York, Philadelphia and Boston for trans-shipment to the allies, between February 12 and 19. This through movement of food trains is still continuing, and six trains of meats are going daily to eastern ports for export.

Between February 10 and February 21, twelve days, 9,363 cars, or about 240 trains of live stock, dressed beef and perishable products have been shipped eastward from Chicago.

The movement of special food trains under fast schedules can be made in any section of the country threatened suddenly with a food shortage, according to railroad directorate officials, and this plan will be resorted to if the shortage which Mr. Hoover forecasts actually develops.

ERNEST HENKEL'S TRIAL WILL BE HELD MARCH 11

The trial of Ernest Henkel, business manager of the Metropolitan Opera company, of New York, who is charged with violating the Reed amendment forbidding the importation of liquor into dry territory, has been set for March 11, before Judge William T. Newman in the United States district court.

Henkel is alleged to have brought whisky from New York to an Atlanta hotel. He will be represented by former United States Attorney H. Snowden Marshall, of New York.

The docket for the March term, which convenes on the 11th of the month, has been completed, and contains nearly 200 criminal cases, about half of these being liquor indictments. Thirty alleged slackers will be tried the second week of the term.

WISCONSIN AND GEORGIA.

In Wisconsin there is a movement on foot looking to a fusion of forces of the democratic and the republican parties in the forthcoming election campaign as a means of making certain the defeat of pro-Germanism and the election only of officials whose Americanism and loyalty will stand the most rigid test.

Governor Philipp is fighting the plan, commenting upon which fact The New York Times said editorially a few days ago:

"Naturally, Governor Philipp, of Wisconsin, is opposed to the idea of having a fusion of loyalists, republican and democratic, to elect a successor to Senator Husting. The men in both parties who favor such a fusion do so on the ground that if there is a division on the old party lines there will be no way of lining up the loyal and disloyal and finding out how Wisconsin stands on the question of patriotism. They fear that another man of La Follette's stripe might slip in through such a division, and that thus Wisconsin might be doubly disgraced and disgraced to the end of the war.

"In saying that it is natural for Governor Philipp to oppose this idea, we mean that his entire course prepares one for his opposition to anything which would lift the stigma of disloyalty that La Follette and German socialism and German sympathizers have placed on his state. He says he cannot endure the thought of fusion because it would 'mean the disfranchisement of the minority parties,' meaning the German socialist party, we suppose. We take leave to doubt that this is Governor Philipp's reason for opposing the plan. We think his reason for opposing it is that he wants the German vote."

We reproduce that editorial in full, not because we are particularly concerned in Wisconsin or what happens in Wisconsin politics; but because it applies with peculiar aptness to conditions nearer home, and because we are particularly concerned in Georgia and what happens in Georgia politics—just as every loyal, patriotic, American Georgian, especially while our country is at war, is concerned in the type of men we elect to represent us, and by whose conduct and records the character and sentiment of the state will be judged by the outside world!

The position of Georgia and Wisconsin before the rest of the nation are in some respects unhappily quite anomalous! And Georgia, like Wisconsin, would do well to take no chances and be mighty careful when it comes to speaking at the ballot-box next election day, lest a very serious mistake be made!

Nobody will or can question the patriotism or the loyalty of the vast majority of Georgia citizens; but it sometimes does happen that the majority fails to designate the state's choice of officials. In other words, a majority divided becomes a minority when the results are totaled.

The best way, therefore, to make sure that there will be no slip-up in this state next November—to place beyond all possible peradventure the election of the right sort of men to serve and to represent and speak for the state, and to positively safeguard against a mistake being made—is for the loyalists, all of them, regardless of party designations, to get together on one man—the right man—and elect him, just as Congressman Wright was elected!

AN OPTIMISTIC NOTE.

The county correspondents of Georgia weekly newspapers are "talking good times" now and "better times coming."

For they are in close touch with what the farmers are doing to make good business for themselves and the country.

This editorial paragraph from The Commerce (Ga.) News is based on local farm prosperity and the bright outlook for the future:

"Commerce began the New Year on pretty solid footing. There is plenty of money in the local banks and it is backed up by at thrifty, able and honorable set of business men, who are in turn backed up by a fertile farming territory inhabited by resourceful men who have clearly demonstrated their agricultural efficiency."

And there never was greater need of agricultural efficiency and the energy and enterprise of resourceful men.

They are the men the country is looking for—dependable forces that keep the industries of the towns and farming districts at high-water mark.

With plenty of money in the local banks, backed by farm-efficiency, there is no place for the pessimist.

As one rural correspondent puts it: "That places us on rising ground!"

AS USUAL.

As usual, Atlanta made good and more than good in the matter of providing sinews of war for the Young Women's Christian association.

When it comes to loosening its purse-strings for the benefit of a laudable cause, Atlanta characteristically is "a hummer." Be what it may, the enterprise needing help, convince the citizens of Atlanta that it is worthy, that the aid asked is really needed and that the funds to be raised will be properly, judiciously and honestly applied—and, presto! the trick is turned!

More especially is this true if the undertaking is colored with an element of patriotism and has a humanitarian angle to it. It has become almost traditional in such instances that, ask Atlanta for an inch and it gives an ell; or, speaking in terms of dollars, ask Atlanta to provide $30,000 within a stipulated period and it comes under the wire on schedule time with $40,000.

That was what it did for the Y. W. C. A. Last Tuesday the city was appealed to for $30,000 to be raised by Thursday night, to be used by the Y. W. C. A. in providing comforts, wholesome surroundings and mental and physical aids for the patriotic young women who are working in the industries and in the offices while their brothers are fighting or preparing to fight the barbarians across the ocean.

By Thursday night the goal had not only been reached, but more than $40,000 was in the campaign committee's hands, and belated subscriptions were still coming in!

That is the Atlanta way of doing business! That is the way Atlanta has met every single obligation of a humanitarian or a patriotic nature that has been levied upon the city since the country entered the war.

For want of a better name, let us characterize it as simply the manifestation of that thing proudly referred to by all Atlantans as "the Atlanta spirit!"

AT $50 A PAGE!

With the country at war, fighting for its life; with young American soldiers dying in the trenches and hospitals in France; with the hard-worked and sorely-tried administrative heads confronted by tremendous and perplexing problems of war and finance, and with vitally important legislation pending in congress—urgent legislation having to do with human life and the fate of humanity—a "debate" was on in the house:—

The Speaker—Does the gentleman from New York yield to the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. London—Well, I will yield.

Mr. Miller, of Minnesota—The gentleman had better yield, or hereafter when he asks unanimous consent to address the house he will not get it.

The Speaker—The gentleman from Minnesota is out of order.

Mr. London—I yield to the gentleman in spite of his threat.

Mr. Miller—All right.

Mr. London—I yield for a relevant question, of course.

Mr. Miller—Does the gentleman recognize any difference between disloyalty and treason and democracy?.

Mr. London—Oh, why should the gentleman not ask me whether I recognize any difference between a member of congress from Minnesota and a mule from Missouri?

Mr. Miller—I do not imagine that the gentleman recognizes that there is any difference.

Mr. London—There are two different propositions. The gentleman does not come from Missouri, anyway, and I would not care to designate him as the thing to which I referred. There is no comparison between democracy and the things he mentions.

Mr. Miller—If the gentleman can tell the difference, his intelligence is greater than I have given him credit for heretofore.

Mr. London—There is no comparison between these things, and if parliamentary practice would permit it I would call the gentleman's question by its proper name, but I prefer to be polite all the time. (Laughter.)

Etc., etc., etc.!

No, reader, this is not a garbled extract from a poorly-done amateurish farce-comedy; but a part of a verbatim report of a "debate" in the halls of congress between Representatives Meyer London, of New York, and C. B. Miller, of Minnesota, as it appeared—"laughter" and all—in The Congressional Record, the publication of which costs the American people approximately $50 a page!

And a terrible howl has been raised in congress because of an order restricting the wholesale free circulation of The Record through the mails!

If the Colonel had the dictation of those bedside bulletins they'd probably read: "Bully! Pulling through!"

Service, Not Savings, What The Public Wants From The Postal Administration

BY SAM W. SMALL.

For the past two weeks I have been having a veritable postal picnic.

I live on a rural route and just five miles from the general postoffice in Washington City, where all mails are received in and forwarded from the national capital.

The Constitution is mailed to me daily from the office in Atlanta. The issue of December 28 reached me here in regular delivery on January 26. Since that time I have been receiving back numbers in bunches of three and five every two or three days. The issue of January 11 arrived in absolutely good order on the afternoon of February 12—probably that I might not be disconsolately lonesome on Lincoln's birthday.

An important letter from Columbus, Ohio, mailed to me January 20 has come to hand on February 15 and another very urgent letter about a lecture engagement that was mailed to me from an office in Washington City on February 11 has not yet arrived on the 16th.

Down on the facade of the postoffice department building, inhabited by Postmaster General Burleson and his disabled cohorts, is swung a great sign urging the people strenuously to the purchase of war savings stamps.

Tomorrow I want to go down and nail above it another big sign saying "Don't buy postage stamps! What's the use?"

I am an almost constant traveler and have recently been over many leading railway lines, south, east and middle west. While in recent months I have seldom been upon a train that was on scheduled time, nevertheless I have not been at any point more than seven hours late. I have frequently gone to the platforms at main stations and transfer junctions to observe how the mails and express freight were being handled, because conductors and trainmen almost invariably charge their troubles in making schedules to the delays caused by handling excessive mail and express matters.

It is manifestly true that the mails are heavily loaded with letters, publications and parcel post. That was naturally to be expected in a state of war and unusual public excitement and movement.

One would have supposed that a vigilant and thorough-going postmaster general would have realized that sudden strain upon his organization and would have re-enforced it to the measure of absolute adequacy and efficiency.

But instead of doing that the evidence is that Mr. Burleson has reduced service and the sufficiency, therefore efficiency, of his department in all possible ways.

At some points I found only one decrepit negro porter, or an equally feeble white man, to load the mail and parcels from a couple of trucks into the mail cars, and probably to shift the trucks twice each way to separate car doors to load and unload them. Meanwhile the train conductor would stand around snapping his fingers from impatience and the engineer would be leaning halfway out of his cab cursing the whole postal outfit for causing the smashing of his schedule.

It usually consumes three to four times as many minutes to unload and load mails and express than to discharge and take on passengers.

Nearly everyone thus delayed wonders why double-header engines are used to pull these overloaded trains when, by splitting the trains into sections, one for passengers and one for mails and express, the former could usually make scheduled time and the other most probably do so?

Now that the railways are under national operation it ought to be possible for Director General McAdoo and Mr. Burleson to work out a scheme that would remedy all these postal congestions.

However, Mr. Burleson is obsessed with the notion that the only successful postal administration is that which will produce an annual surplus of receipts instead of a comparatively small deficit accompanied by public satisfaction.

A prominent senator, irritated over the situation, said to me when discussing the Burleson idea: "Durn the deficit! What the people want is service and not savings!"

Don't you think he was right?

THE FALL OF KERENSKY

By LIEUTENANT BORIS SHUMANSKY

Former Russian Newspaper Man, and Member of the Personal Staff of Alexander Feodorovitch Kerensky, Head of the Deposed Russian Provisional Government

Excesses in Finland.

When the Bolsheviki won power in Petrograd the soldiers began a dastardly campaign of violence and murder against their own officers. Russian soldiers in Finland imitated them. It is in Finland that these beasts have committed the most terrible excesses, and it was for this reason that the Finns rebelled against Bolshevik rule and were moved to take up arms to defend Finland as an independent republic, entirely divorced from new Russia. The city of Viborg in Finland is only a few miles from Petrograd, and at Viborg was the headquarters of a Russian army. Naturally when the revolution started in Petrograd it spread with all of its monstrosities rapidly into Finland.

One of the acts that enraged the Finns came to my knowledge with precise details. Russian soldiers dragged a captain from his quarters. He forbore to call out to his son, not wishing to terrify the lad, so he stretched out his hand merely. The little boy caught at his father's hand and a Russian soldier, slashing down with his saber, severed the captain's hand at the wrist and left the bleeding remnant in the grasp of the child.

An officer's wife told me this story:

"My husband's murderers were quiet, well behaved soldiers. When they came to our house and demanded to see him they did so without threats or boisterousness. Nevertheless I was very frightened. I argued with them, pleaded with them, not to harm my husband. I entreated them for a whole hour. They were very polite and patient. I looked up into their eyes and could detect no glint of cruelty or brutality. They told me reassuringly that my husband was to be arrested only. I trusted them. Half an hour later word came to me that these very men had killed him."

Now these are facts in the every-day life of Russia. Many despair, especially after such news as has just come to us—news that Lenine and Trotzky have made peace formally with the Germans, and have formally demobilized the armies. But I do not despair. I shall not give up hope of Russia. Would you in America give up hope if circumstances permitted armed bandits to seize Washington and overawe civilians? A small group of Bolsheviki extremists and paid German agents have succeeded in poisoning the Russian army of millions. They have poisoned the minds of workingmen likewise. They have put into practice their theories of anarchy. The result is chaos.

Only a Nightmare.

But Russia is great. This is only a nightmare, in my belief. It will pass. Consider the causes and one will see that the nightmare is to be a temporary thing. There was nothing in the life of the Russian soldier that was worth drawing breath for. He was starved, beaten and betrayed. He was sent against disciplined troops without ammunition for his rifle, and often without the rifle itself. He was cannon fodder. Whole armies of him were sold to the Germans for cash. Who can wonder if he became sick of the whole wretched business? Who can wonder that he lost the feel of patriotism? Who can wonder if he fell to the domination of cowards and traitors able to speak to him with fine words and glowing promises? Who can wonder that after years of misery he thought to make his own law, rifle in hand?

But some day peace will dawn upon Russia, and millions of men whose hearts are still sound, however much their heads may have buzzed, will return to their homes. They will go back to their wives and children, and they will have to find orderly, peaceful conditions so as to make a living. They will see that factories must run, that shops must operate, that farms must be tilled. They will understand sooner or later that justice must rule for the common good of all. When they come to see that how long, think you, will they tolerate the rule of Bolshevik agitators? How long will they be content with anarchy, which brings poverty and distress worse than they suffered under czardom?

For three centuries Russia groaned under the rule of the Romanoffs. The whole of Russia was a dark prison. The minds of the people were in chains. The revolution opened the prison and burst the chains too suddenly; poisonous gases were generated. But the real Russia is not the Russia of Lenine and Trotzky. The real Russia is full of ideas quite foreign to the ideas of these men who derive their inspiration from Berlin. Their success is no more permanent than is the triumph of the German armies. The real Russia is the Russia of Tolstoy, Dostoievsky, Breskowska, Chernof and Kropatkin. They are the real representatives of Russian thought.

When this war is over—pity truth could not have conquered before—the real Russian people will have their way.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

HEARTBURN.

More than thirty years ago, Reichmann found that although both physicians and laymen attributed heartburn to excessive acidity of the stomach, an increase of acidity could only rarely be demonstrated by analysis.

If a large amount of hydrochloric acid is placed in the stomach by tube there is no distress felt.

In cases of gastric ulcer, in which there is generally an increase of hydrochloric acid in the esophagus or gullet, well above the stomach, is alkaline; but that in persons suffering with heartburn the reaction is distinctly acid. From this fact he concluded that heartburn is due, not to excessive acidity of the stomach, but to the regurgitation or backing up of the normally acid gastric juice into the esophagus. The symptom, therefore, probably signifies reverse peristalsis. Reverse peristalsis or backward wave movement of the alimentary tract is a very common factor of many of the symptoms of dyspepsia or indigestion, so-called.

Belching of gas is usually associated with heartburn. Belching is also a common symptom of reverse peristalsis.

Sometimes alkalis relieve heartburn; sometimes a full dose of dilute hydrochloric acid relieves it. Alkalis often give relief even when chemical analysis shows that the secretion of hydrochloric acid in the stomach is below the normal.

Heartburn is a symptom, not of stomach trouble alone, but just as frequently indicative of chronic appendicitis, ulcer in the duodenum, chronic inflammation of the gall-sac or gallstones. It is equally suggestive of pelvic lesions in women. Or, to put it plainly, it isn't particularly suggestive of anything at all but reverse peristaltic waves arising from some source of irritation within or from some nervous excitement from without the body.

Fats or greasy foods have the reputation of producing heartburn. Not because fats are "indigestible," but because they favor regurgitation into the esophagus in persons with any trouble which produces reverse peristalsis.

We apologize for this very unsatisfactory article. It doesn't tell how to cure heartburn. But one of our duties, as we see it, is to unsatisfy complacent subjects of "stomach trouble" and, if possible, stimulate in their souls a wholesome desire to find out what the trouble is.

No Resolution Passed Asking Taking Highway Department From the Prison Commission

Editor Constitution: In your issue of Wednesday, February 20, you printed a news item from Athens reporting the proceedings of the meeting of the Georgia State Automobile association in which your Athens correspondent stated that our association adopted a resolution which advocated the divorcing of the state highway department from the prison commission.

This statement was in error, and while two or three speakers did touch on such a proposition, no resolution was offered or adopted, and in justice to the Georgia Automobile association I will thank you to carry this statement in order to correct the impression conveyed in the Athens article.

Our association is intensely interested in the establishment of a system of permanent state highways, and as important state legislation is necessary to obtain such a system, we do not want to become involved in any way that will handicap our work, and while we have a highway department established by act of the legislature, our association is endeavoring to assist them in every way we can.

W. T. WINN,
President Georgia State Auto Association.

GOVERNOR DORSEY SCORES PACIFISTS

Tells Cheering Americus Audience Those Who Would Wait for Germans to Come Here Would Retreat Before Invaders.

Americus, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—At the Washington's birthday celebration here today Governor Hugh M. Dorsey was the chief speaker. The celebration was held in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, and standing beneath a huge United States flag, while the folds of the Union Jack of Great Britain formed a background for the historic pulpit from which he delivered his address, Georgia's governor talked one hour and fifteen minutes, holding the undivided attention of the 2,000 people present.

Frequent and prolonged cheers greeted every reference to the barbarity and iniquity of the Germans and when he pledged Georgia to do its share financially, industrially, economically and in a military way the applause was deafening. He paid a scathing tribute to the slacker who refused to support the war because it is being fought on foreign sold and asserted that such men would flee if they lived in Americus if the Germans attacked Savannah; that when the invading legions reached Atlanta the same men would flee westward and that when they were finally overtaken, imprisoned or attacked they would still be protesting against the inhumanity of war.

"America," the governor said, "entered this war only after the most unusual of provocations and every resource of the nation is pledged to defeat German militarism and protect civilization."

Following the address Governor Dorsey and a party of prominent citizens visited and inspected the Third District Agricultural and Mechanical college and the aviation camp site 4 miles east of Americus. He returned to Atlanta tonight.

DUBLIN MAYORS REFUSE TO TAKE THE CITY'S PAY

Dublin, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) While Mayor P. S. Twitty is serving in the army on leave of absence, he declined to accept the salary paid the mayor of Dublin, and told council they could give it to the acting mayor, or to charity.

Acting Mayor Izzie Bashinski immediately instructed council to divide the money paid to the mayor between the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., as he would serve without remuneration during the remainder of the term, when Mr. Twitty would be mayor.

ATLANTA WILL PUT TICKETS ON SALE AT THE PIEDMONT

In future it won't be necessary to walk or ride, according to your standing with those greatest of all fortune-tellers, Messrs. Bradstreet and Dun, when you want to purchase tickets for the Atlanta theater.

Manager Haase has made arrangements with the Piedmont hotel and has established an uptown branch ticket office at the cigar stand in the lobby of the hotel. A full plat of seats will be kept there and the would-be worshiper at the Thespian shrine can select the exact seat desired, just as well at the box office in the Piedmont as at the theater.

There is only one kind of seat which cannot be purchased at either place, and that is the one made famous by the fellows that draw their weekly stipend for the pen-and-inklings, which are called cartoons. That is the seat behind a post. There are none of this vintage in the Atlanta.

The new branch box office will open for business Monday for the advance sale for "Pollyanna," which commences a four-days-and-Wednesday-matinee engagement on Monday night, next.

Boarding Houses And Hotels Fall Under Same Rule

Both Must Observe Wheatless, Meatless and Porkless Days, Meatless Breakfasts and Wheatless Noonday Meals.

Boarding houses come under the same classification as restaurants and hotels, according to a recent ruling of the United States food administration. All public eating places must observe the meatless breakfast rule and strictly enforce the meatless, wheatless and porkless days as designated under the ruling.

Only in private families will individual discretion as to which meal shall be meatless and which wheatless, will be permitted. Every Monday meal must be wheatless. The efficient southern cook must exercise their age-old skill in utilizing meal of the native corn.

Warning has been issued that boarding houses which fail to observe the rule will have their supplies cut off by official mandate, and personal investigation will be made by officials of the department wherever suspicion may be directed. M. E. Bradbury, of the food administration headquarters in Washington, has been in Atlanta on business connected with the work, and states that he finds the rules being rigidly enforced in all the public eating establishments which he has visited, and believes that the sentiment of the Atlanta restaurant proprietors is to cheerfully stand behind the government for the enforcement of this necessary war-time measure.

Labor Council Leader Will Deliver Address On Sunday Afternoon

John T. Smith, representing the National Labor Council of the United States as an organizer of the American Federation of Labor, will address a meeting in the auditorium at the labor temple, at 112 Trinity avenue, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This meeting will be under the auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Trades and all organized and non-organized labor men, as well as the general public, are cordially invited to be present.

Mr. Smith is touring the country, speaking to the labor organizations, and explaining how every worker is vitally interested in the right outcome of the present war. He tells how President Gompers, head of the labor unions of America, has unequivocally declared himself in support of President Wilson and the administration and shows the workers how essential it is, for their own future well-being, that Germany be completely crushed.

Mr. Smith will also address a meeting of local carpenters in the Marietta street hall on Saturday night. He has met many of the leading men of the city and the assembly room of the chamber of commerce has been tendered him, and it is probable that he will speak to the business men before leaving the city.

SHRINERS ENFORCE HOLIDAY IN VALDOTSA

Valdosta, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Alee Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine drove dull care away from Valdosta today, the city being the playground for the thousands of visitors gathered here for the annual ceremonies of the temple in Valdosta. Alee temple and its officers arrived here this morning in three Pullman cars, having the baggage car loaded with camel's milk and the engines of torture for those who were to journey across the burning sands. With the first rays of the rising sun appeared the red-fezzed men on the streets and the fun started.

After every prank known to Shrinedom had been played during the morning, the Nobles went to the South Georgia State Normal college and declared a holiday for the more than three hundred girl students. The girls were taken into autos and given a ride, and for the remainder of the day the constant pets of the Nobles, who gave them a good time. At noon dinner was served to the visitors at Brookwood park by Valdosta Shriners. One thousand pounds of turkey, 1,500 birds and everything needful for a good dinner had been provided.

Immediately after dinner, eevry business house employing girls was ordered by the Nobles to close, and all theaters emptied and closed and, through the whole business section, business was forbidden. Street car schedules were suspended and all vehicular traffic was impossible among the seething thousands of people out for a frolic. The parade was gorgeous and the novices created shouts of laughter.

VIOLATING PROHI LAW CHARGED TO REYNOLDS

W. H. Reynolds, proprietor of the Candler building barber shop, was bound over on $50 bond by the recorder Friday on the charge of violating the state prohibition law. It was alleged by Detectives Hamby and Vickery two pints of whisky were found in a cot pocket in the pressing department of the barber shop. Reynolds stated that the whisky might have been brought into the shop by one of his patrons and he had no knowledge of the whisky being there, but the recorder held that he was responsible for liquor found in his shop.

SOLDIER AND FUNDS MISSING FROM CAMP

Colonel Frank T. Ely, commander of the military police at Camp Gordon, has asked the police to aid in the search for Private William E. Sample, who is accused of absconding with $1,113.60 of the camp's exchange funds. It is said Sample, who is 31 years old, disappeared from the camp on February 16. He was drafted from Toledo, Ohio, and is reported to have been formerly at the head of a business in Cognac, N. Y.

KENNEDY TO CONTINUE AS DIRECTOR OF FUEL

New Offices Will Be Opened This Morning in Peachtree Arcade.

With a view to insuring impartial distribution of coal for domestic consumption, it has been determined to retain the services of City Fuel Administrator H. B. Kennedy, and his suggestion that he be relieved from duty and that orders be handled directly through dealers has been overruled.

Mr. Kennedy expresses the belief that the strike in the Birmingham coal district will not affect Atlanta, so far as is concerned the supply of coal for domestic use, although the supply for industrial purpose is said to be greatly depleted. All of the larger coal yards have been required to put in a supply of not less than 500 tons, and an estimated surplus aggregating several thousand tons has been acquired.

While it is believed that the supply is sufficient to insure against danger of a shortage before warm weather, the fuel administration officials desire to maintain the present system in order to prevent the hoarding of larger supplies by individuals than their needs require.

The new office of the administrator has been completely equipped in the basement of the Peachtree Arcade, in Rooms 46 and 48, and will be open this morning to receive orders. It is believed that the office will not be required after March 10, and it has been fitted out with the expectation that its existence will only be temporarily required.

THE FARMERS' COUNCIL

America's position has been definitely defined and the burden that rests upon the south Atlantic farmers is also clearly and definitely placed. Thirty-seven-cent cotton must not rattle or demoralize the cotton planter. With the realization of high prices for cotton, he must assume and take up the burden of giving the best food to the best soldiers and the best sailors that ever defended a flag, which, crystallized, means supplying our army and navy. If the balance of the world buys the cotton at the maximum price from the south Atlantic states, these states should do their part to intelligently convert the by-products of its crop into beef and fats. The sun never shone upon a land that could produce as much beef fat at the same cost, in the same time, as the state of Georgia can from cotton seed meal.

Our activity at this time is inspired by the results accomplished by co-operation on our part with The Atlanta Constitution about three years ago. We were extended the courtesy of the editorial page through the patriotic zeal of Hon. Clark Howell. We received letters from different parts of the entire country of congratulation and encouragement. It cannot be determined what part we played in the development, but we do know that Georgia has today more Hereford cattle than any state in the south.

An Ornament to the State.

A prominent banker of Georgia generously expressed his recognition of our assiduous labor in the evolution of grassology and beef cattle in the southern states by sending our herdsman an order for a Hereford bull calf. Upon receipt of the bull, he reported that he was an ornament to Georgia and a monument to North Carolina, and he wanted his name ercorded as Pershing Fairrax.

This phase of commercialism inspires frankness that this is intended as a high-class advertisement. To what extent of the self-interest feature, however, is limited by the statement that while we have the largest herd of Hereford cattle known to these parts, consisting of Anxiety, Perfection, Perfection Fairfax, Disturber, Repeater and Beau Brummel blood lines, we have only six bulls to offer for sale, all of which are sons of Wilton Fairfax, a son of the king of Hereford breed, Perfection Fairfax, and is also a lineal descendant of the English $20,000 bull, Lord Wilton. We expect to have 100 calves to ship during the next twelve months. We will let any reputable dealer price these bulls and calves when we are ready to deliver them and we will accept in payment for some good middling cotton at 37c per pound.

Traded Cattle for Cotton in 1914.

We offer 10½c for cotton in 1914, when cotton was selling at 7c, and deliver Hereford bulls in payment for same. We made money out of the cotton, and we pleased and benefitted the purchasers of the bulls. We feel confident that we will make a profit on the cotton at 37c, and we know we are offering cattle without superior blood lines or individuality in the world.

We believe that we benefit ourselves and render a public service in pursuing our policy in educating the young man of the south in the higher evolution of grassology, and in that connection, we announce that we have established what we term a farm engineering department. Farm engineering consists of intelligent surveying, plotting and adjusting the topography of a piece of land, that the geological and geographical features of the different parts of the place may be understood and an economic and definite plan of fencing developed to utilize the water, the grasses and the waste products of the farm.

It requires years of practical experience to know how to properly utilize large grass fields in units of 500 acres, where one man can bring his cattle to a common point for various purposes: Exhibition, dipping, feeding and vaccinating, and economically and wisely distribute them over the place under the control of one man. We have a high-class expert in charge of this department, and the different farms are used for demonstration and laboratory work. We extend the privilege of this department, free of charge, to visitors, and we make visitations at minimum cost.

A Grass for Every Clime and Soil.

It is encumbent upon the experienced and trained farmers of the cotton and tobacco states to demonstrate that there is a useful grass, indigenous to every clime and every soil, and that it is stupid to plow the ground just enough to kill the grass, and not enough to make a crop. Johnson grass, Bermuda grass, Japan clover and broomsedge have just as great a field of usefulness in their sphere as blue grass has in southwest Virginia.

In this connection we expect in the near future to give the public the benefit of our investigation of the combination of irrigation and the legumes upon the southern soils.

Let our admonition repress a phase of avarice in attempting to raise too much cotton at 37 cents, and remember when you are producing grasses, beef cattle, hogs and corn you are feeding the boys behind the guns.

We will give $10 in gold to any boy or girl under 21 who writes the best article on the commercial relation of Singapore, Cape Horn and Hampton Roads, Va.; also $10 in gold for the best letter on Johnson grass or Japan clover, and also $10 in gold for the best article written on the following Hereford sires:

Martin Fairfax, the $17,000 bull, same sire as Wilton Fairfax.

Richard Fairfax, whose owner refused $25,000.

Repeater, sold for $27,000.

Ardmore, sold for $31,000.

Perfection Fairfax, the acknowledged king of the breed, who is without price and who produced calves that last May averaged over $3,000.

Perfection Fairfax is the sire of Wilton Fairfax, our herd bull, whose dam is Miss Donald Wilton, embracing Lord Wilton, Dale and Beau Donald blood. We will also donate a Hereford bull to the chairman of the board of county commissioners who will co-operate and establish the first farmers' council of war, which means high cotton and more food, and helps the farmer boys and their parents who remain at home in realizing that those who stay must do more than those who go. Lest we forget, the duration of this war is known to no man except that great general who prevails in every war—General Exhaustion.

In feeding our soldiers we automatically place the round table on the banks of the Potomac, where representatives of nations will meet, and there it will be written in the languages of all the world the meaning of opportunity, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

WILSON RAIL MEASURE PASSED BY SENATE

providing, respectively, that such net return should not be above 5, 6 and 7 per cent of their capitalization. They were defeated, 46 to 19, 45 to 24 and 47 to 27, respectively.

Amendments designed to limit scope of the president's orders in operating the carriers also were voted down. A proposal by Senator Sterling, of South Dakota, to keep in effect the present laws and functions governing the interstate commerce commission and state railway commissions was rejected by a viva voce vote, while one by Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, to limit the president's orders to acts specifically authorized by law was beaten, 46 to 20.

Also the senate rejected, 58 to 11, a motion by Senator Kirby, of Arkansas, to strike out the provision authorizing the president to buy and sell railroad securities.

The substitute bill of Senator Townsend, of Michigan, a member of the interstate commerce committee, was rejected, 51 to 14. He said it was patterned virtualy after the compromise draft, but with many alleged defects eliminated.

In his effort to reduce the president's jurisdiction over rates, Senator Cummins proposed that he be authorized to initiate only rates of troops and government materials and merely to suggest rates to the interstate commerce commission, but not effective until the commission approved them. This amendment was rejected, 46 to 19.

Lenroot Attacks Measure.

Representative Lenroot, of Wisconsin, republican, vigorously criticised the bill in the house today, declaring it contained many inaccuracies and absurdities.

Representative Reyburn, of Texas, opposed government ownership of the roads and advocated time limit of government control.

The senate, after passing the administration railroad bill tonight adjourned until Monday, with leaders planning then to begin work on another important war measure, the bill proposing creation of a war finance corporation to aid industry.

PLAN RESTRICTIONS IN SALE OF PISTOLS

caused the law to be modified in such a way as to allow pistols to be purchased under a strict but sane license plan.

At this juncture J. B. M. Hoxsey, of the grand jury committee, declared that the Fulton county grand jury had considered a more drastic ordinance, in which dealers would not only be made to pay a very high license for the sale of pistols, but would have to keep records of pistol sales and inventories of pistols always for the inspection of the chief of police, and that purchasers of pistols would have to secure license from the chief of police and meet other drastic conditions before being allowed to purchase such weapons, but that the former ordinance was submitted because of the fact that the county attorney had delivered an opinion that the more drastic ordinance would not stand under the United States constitution, a section of which guarantees to every man the right to arm himself in the protection of his home, property and life.

Pistols Are Not Arms.

Mr. Hoxsey, however, said later that he had been advised to the contrary by other lawyers and that it had been given as an opinion that pistols were not considered arms.

Here arose a discussion which developed the interesting idea that pistols are not arms in the legal sense of the word, but that they were invented by criminals for the purpose of robbery, and that they had been ever since the favorite weapon of those who have violent inclinations.

The question, also, of people sending out of town to mail order houses and other cities for pistols, was discussed in connection with the high license, but it was said that few of the viciously inclined among the people would send to other cities for pistols, and it was urged generally that all legal restrictions be placed about the sale of the pistol in Atlanta by an ordinance.

Finally it was agreed to consider the drafting of an ordinance which would require a license of $300 for dealers, which might later be changed to $100, and to make the sale of a pistol in the city illegal except when the purchaser had secured a license from the general council.

An amendment was also accepted which provides that the display of pistols for sale in any building in the city shall be illegal, and punishable by fine and imprisonment.

HURLEY IS EXPECTED TO VISIT BRUNSWICK

Brunswick, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—According to information received yesterday, Chairman Hurley, of the United States shipping board and president of the Emergency Fleet corporation, will visit this port probably the latter part of next week, though no definite announcement as to the exact date has yet been announced. While on the trip he will also visit Savannah and Charleston.

Chairman Hurley, it is understood, comes to Brunswick to look into the local shipbuilding situation. There are in operation two large shipbuilding plants working on government contracts and three others not engaged in government work. It has been reported on numerous occasions that it was the plan of the government to take over all shipbuilding plants, and the visit of the chairman at this time may have something to do with the actual taking over of these plants. It has also been stated that the chairman is coming south for the purpose of looking into the housing situation.

MOVEMENT TO ABOLISH GLYNN CO. TREASURER

Brunswick, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Now that Glynn county has no treasurer, or will not as soon as Governor Dorsey acts upon the resignation of R. S. Pyles, elected sheriff, the people are solidly in favor of abolishing the office at once and it seems likely that instead of calling a special election to name a successor to Mr. Pyles, that the office will be left vacant until the legislature convenes in June, at which time it will be abolished. A bill was passed at the last session providing that the office be abolished in 1920, at which time Mr. Pyles' term would have expired, but now that that he has resigned, the people of the county do not want to elect another treasurer to serve his unexpired term.

ROME CITY TREASURY IS FACING A DEFICIT

Rome, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Rome's third year under the commission form of government is about to end with a deficit in the city treasury. At last night's meeting of the city commission overdrafts aggregating more than $20,000 were reported in the health, public buildings and street maintenance departments. The financial condition of the city has caused a sentiment for a return to the old "mayor and alderman" form of government, and legislation to this end will probably be introduced at the next session of the Georgia general assembly by Representative Seaborn Wright.

NORTH AVENUE PAVING BIDS ARE CONSIDERED

Street Committee Recommends Contract Be Let to Pittman Construction Company.

Ten bids from three different concerns, covering various materials, at a meeting of the street committee of council held Friday afternoon, were considered, and a recommendation was made to the general council that the contract be let to the Pittman Construction company, 208 Rhodes building, for the paving of North avenue between Marietta and Williams streets.

The bid made by the Pittman Construction company was the lowest submitted to the committee, and was accepted on the basis of $2.14 per square yard for concrete paving. The recommendation of the street committee will go before the next meeting of council, Monday, March 4, and it is believed the general body will ratify this action and let the contract for the North avenue paving at once.

The new paving on North avenue is considered most urgent at this time, in view of the great increase of business on that street because of the increased number of pupils who have taken up work at Georgia Tech makes this a most important thoroughfare.

The street committee also recommended to council the purchase of some street-working equipment that has been badly needed for some time by the construction department. A portable rock-crushing plant was recommended at a cost of $2,550, from the Good Roads Machinery company, which will be equipped with screens, bins and such other appliances as to make it complete.

The committee also recommended the purchase of two steam drills, costing $570 for the two, from the Ingersol-Rand company, through the Cotton States Belting and Supply company.

An oil distributer, which is also to become a part of the street equipment, to cost $941.80, and a road grader, at $525, were recommended as needed by the street committee. The two last named items are to be purchased from the Austin-Western Road Machinery company.

The purchase of a steam roller was left open in order that members of the street committee might have an opportunity to examine a second-hand roller that some of the councilmen thought could be bought advantageously by the city council.

A motion was passed by the committee recommending to council that the pay of 61 drivers in the service of the city should be raised 25 cents each per day. This refers to white men working for the city, and applies to those who are getting $2 per day and less.

DOUGHERTY FRUIT TREES ARE ALL IN FULL BLOOM

Albany, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) At an earlier date than there is record of fruit trees in this part of the state are in full bloom. Peach, pear and plum trees are masses of white and pink, and a stiff freeze would shatter prospects for one of the greatest fruit crops ever raised in the lower part of the state.

"There's no use borrowing trouble," said a man who prizes his fruit trees highly, "but the fact is that not once in ten years do we go from the middle of February into April without experiencing at least one good freeze. A late February or early March freeze now would knock our prospects for peaches and plums into a cocked hat and would probably destroy the pears as well."

February weather has been phenomenal. Some of the days have been like April, and the month up to the present has brought no freezing temperatures. What the last week of the shortest month may do is yet to be seen, and the coming of March will be awaited with no little trepidation.

Sunshine and gladness will reign at the Atlanta Theater next week, when "POLLYANNA" comes to town.

Alleged German Spy Is Arrested in Griffin With Ship Plant Photos

Griffin, Ga., February 22.—On advices received from department of justice officials in Atlanta, B. F. Florencecourt, who has been under surveillance of officers here for the past two days, was placed under arrest by Chief of Police Mallory this afternoon and is being held until further orders are received.

Justice officials are seeking to ascertain, it is learned, why Florencecourt is in possession of certain photographs of shipbuilding plants, docks and other scenes along the Savannah water front. He has been registered at a local hotel here for a day or two, and the case was brought to the attention of department men by the local council of national defense, it is understood. Local photographers developed the films for Florencecourt yesterday morning, which show about a dozen views of the wharfs around Savannah.

Other views were made of various buildings along the water front. The inscription, Savannah, Ga., 2-17,1918," appeared on some of the films and showed up clearly on the pictures. Florencecourt, it is understood, claims to be a signal block expert, and has transportation on several rail lines.

THREE SERVICE FLAGS SHOW CATHOLIC LOYALTY

Seventy-One Stars in Sacred Heart Church Flag and 112 in Marist College.

Three large service flags, emblematic of the loyalty and patriotism of men of the Catholic faith, are seen in the grounds of the Sacred Heart church, where they were raised with impressive ceremonies to do honor to the men who have gone from the ranks of the church to the army, in response to the promptings of patriotic duty.

Above the entrance to the church appears a flag composed of 71 stars with one golden star shining out among the blue in honor of Captain Thomas M. Brady, whose life was given up in the service. Over the main building of Marist college waves a flag containing 112 stars. Here also appears a single one of gold, sacred to the memory of Vincent I. Kane, who gave up his life in the service.

Over the priest's house appears the third flag, which shows 127 stars, seventeen of which are golden, in token each of a Marist father who has given up his life in the present world war. The blue stars are so arranged as to show the coat-of-arms of the society, with the gold emblems arranged above them.

Marist college points with pride to a record, probably not equaled by any educational institution in the country, more than 75 per cent of its quota of 112 enrolled in the service being officers.

TWO LADS ARE ACCUSED OF ROBBING POSTOFFICE

Rome, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) Although James Dean and Paul Hall, two lads of Rising Fawn, are each less than 15 years of age, they have already displayed much shrewdness in a career of crime, according to federal officers who brought them here yesterday. The boys are accused of having robbed the postoffice at Rising Fawn on three different occasions and with having unsuccessfully attempted a fourth robbery. They have been bound over to the May term of federal court by United States Commissioner Printup.

Officers state that all the robberies were at noon when the office is unoccupied, that the boys got considerable sums in stamps and cash, and were caught in the act by a postoffice clerk, at the fourth attempt.

COOPER IS EXPECTED IN ATLANTA SUNDAY

Solicitor Boykin Conducting Investigation Into Lives of Cook and Mrs. Hirsch.

John R. Cooper, Macon attorney, who has been retained as associate counsel for the defense in the pending hearing of Mrs. H. H. Hirsch and J. W. Cook, charged with attempted verbal blackmail of Asa G. Candler, mayor of Atlanta, will arrive in Atlanta either late Sunday or Monday.

The hearing is scheduled for Wednesday, February 27, and will be held in Judge Benjamin H. Hill's court.

Solicitor John A. Boykin is quietly conducting investigations into the previous life of the defendants, and it is understood that he will endeavor to bring out that they were close friends for a year or more before the time of their indictment.

Few further developments, except of minor importance, are expected before the trial opens. Both sides express themselves as entirely satisfied with their case and promise sensational disclosures in court. It is indicated that the hearing will be one of the most interesting trials ever heard in the state.

Washington's Birthday Program Biggest in Gordon's History

Monster Athletic Event in Morning Attended by 35,000 Soldiers and Visitors. Other Patriotic Programs Staged During Day Meet With Success.

Before an audience of 30,000 soldiers and several hundred civilian visitors from Atlanta and near-by cities, Camp Gordon, yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, began a highly successful series of holiday events, marking the observance of the birthday of George Washington. The initial event of the day's program was a monster military athletic meet, in which several hundred troops took part, and in which the entire Eighty-second division displayed the greatest of enthusiasm.

The meet was attended by the troops of the various organizations in military formation, and in addition, hundreds of spectators from the city came out in automobiles and on street cars tow itness the biggest athletic contest the camp has ever witnessed. The vast audience was grouped in a great circle about the natural amphitheater in the center of the camp parade field.

Two Generals Present.

Brigadier General William P. Burnham and Brigadier General C. D. Rhodes, together with their staffs of officers, were present at the big athletic carnival. The French and English officers who are attached for training purposes to the Eighty-second division, were also present either as officials or spectators, and the sky-blue and olive tints of their uniforms, the varying colors of civilian dress and the vast sea of khaki made the scene one of the most impressive spectacles ever witnessed at the military reservation.

The weather was a trifle clouded and the parade grounds a bit slippery for the athletic meet, but the contestants entered into the affair with a spirit that made light of these two drawbacks. Immediately after the contests thousands of soldiers and civilians began to pour to the street car station and to board jitney busses plying in the vicinity of the camp, and for a time it seemed that the crowds could not be accommodated. By dint of squeezing and crowding, however, the thing was done, and in the early afternoon the 8,000 soldiers who were guests of the city during the holiday, together with camp civilians, were safely transported to Atlanta.

The afternoon athletic program at the open air stadium of the Three Hundred and Twenty-fifth infantry, began promptly at 2 o'clock, when a number of the camp's cleverest boxers and wrestlers delighted the hearts of a large audience of soldiers. The cleverest wrestlers and boxers of the camp took part in this program, and it was declared by the entire audience to be a greatly successful affair.

While the second athletic program of the day was in progress, a large audience of soldiers and civilians were gathered at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium hearing a splendid patriotic address by Dr. W. R. Hendrix, pastor of St. Mark's church in Atlanta. Commencing this patriotic program, the choir of the First Baptist church gave an able musical concert, and the Three Hundred and Twenty-eighth Infantry Regimental band played a number of patriotic airs. Both these offerings were received by the audience with marked appreciation.

Service Building Program.

Additional patriotic programs were staged at night at the auditorium and the Knights of Columbus hall. At the former Lieutenant Jean Picard, experienced French officer, made a forceful address following a military concert by the Three Hundred and Twenty-sixth Infantry Regimental band. Jeremiah Sullivan, chairman of the national committee of appraisers of New York, delivered the principal patriotis address at the Knights of Columbus hall. The Choral Club of Atlanta were also present at this program with a number of popular patriotic songs.

Extra programs were also arranged on a smaller scale for the entertainment of the soldiers who remained in camp at the various service buildings about the camp. Those who visited the city during the holiday reported Friday night that they received a royal welcome and had a thoroughly enjoyable time at the various entertainments arranged for them at the Auditorium-Armory by the concerted action of prominent Atlanta citizens.

Winners in the various athletic contests of the morning were awarded handsome prizes which were the gifts of Atlanta business concerns. The events of the meet were chosen particularly with a view to affording development along military and physical lines for the contestants, and many were of such a comical nature as to keep the big audience in a constant roar of laughter.

The meet was begun with a bayonet fighting exhibition, which was carried off by Corporal John McElroy, of Company C, 326th infantry. Sergeant G. H. Evans, Company E, of the 328th infantry, came second in points. The contest was judged by Captain S. W. Murray, British army officer, and it called forth the praises of all prominent officials present. The winner of the first place in this event was presented with a safety razor by the Cotton States Belting and Supply company, and the second prize winner was given a baseball glove by A. G. Spalding company.

The 326th infantry team was declared winner in the machine gun competition. The members were Corporal R. Wilson, Privates M. J. Shore, Joseph Laton, P. Geyzel, W. Smith, C. Williams, E. Miden, R. Mate. Major Matson, of the British army, acted as judge in this event. The winning team was presented with 20 tickets to the Grand theater by officials of the Atlanta playhouse. The 328th infantry team came second and won 10 tickets to the same theater.

Blindfolded Boxing.

The blindfolded boxing event was easily one of the most amusing on the athletic bill, for those who entered into the contest gave the best exhibition of "fanning the air" ever seen on the reservation. During the contest an unfortunate lieutenant was knocked completely out by a blow by one of the blindfolded men, who took the junior officer for his opponent. Private S. Hammond, Company M, 325th infantry, won first place and a gift of a pair of khaki trousers from Jack Hayes in this event, and Private J. L. Langley, of the sanitary train, came second and was presented with a box of candy from Nunnally's.

Sergeant Will Lowe, of the Thirteenth training battalion, was declared the winner in the colored troops blindfolded boxing event and was given a prize of $5. Lieutenants Carter and Mauch acted as judges in this event.

Sergeant Ray Lunbacker, Company M, of the 327th infantry, won the hand grenade competition for accuracy and was given a prize of $5 in trade at Herndon's barber shop. Sergeant Lee Cathey, of the Eleventh training battalion, won the colored grenade throwing for distance and was given an O. D. shirt by Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company. Captain Bob McWhorter was judge in this event.

Sergeant Arthur Dion, Company F, of the 326th infantry, won the 100-yard dash for whites, in which event the entrants were fully clothed and carried a regulation rifle. Sergeant Dion won a prize donated by the Piedmont barber shop.

Sergeant G. C. Burnett and Private R. Flowers, both of the colored training battalions, won first and second prizes in the colored troops' dash.

The 321st Machine Gun battalion won over all contestants in the tug-of-war and was presented with a box of cigars by the Atlanta National bank. The Seventeenth Engineers won second place. The Thirteenth Training battalion won in the tug-of-war for colored troops, and was given a cash prize of $5. Lieutenants Mauck and Holland acted as judges.

Boat Race Comical Event.

The boat race, another extremely comical event, was won by the 307th Ammunition train, with the Seventeenth Engineers in second place. A number of tickets to the Lyric theater were presented the two winners.

Colonel H. C. Williams, of the 320th Field artillery, won over a large number of officer contestants in the mounted jumping contest, and the winner established some new records at the camp in the way of mounting hurdling. Lieutenant H. C. Allen, of headquarters of the 157th Depot brigade, won second place. Both were presented with books by Miller's and Lester's book stores. A number of commanding officers acted as judges for this event.

The mounted tug-of-war for whites was carried off by Company F, of the 307th Ammunition train, with the Supply company, of the 328th infantry, in second place. The winners were given a camera by the Glenn Photo company and gloves by Daniel Brothers. The Twelfth Training battalion won $5 by taking first place in the mounted tug-of-war for colored troops.

Teamster Alex Spade, Supply company, of the 326th infantry, displayed a greater ability than his opponents to coax a mule to leap over bales of hay instead of delaying to feast, and he won first place and a hat from George Muse company in the mule steeplechase. Stable Sergeant W. R. Whitehead, of the Tenth Training battalion, came second, and was given a fountain pen by Eugene Haynes.

An idea of the interest displayed in the meet by the soldiers of the camp may be gained by the knowledge that 240 men took part in the tug-of-war event; 135 in the boat race; 50 in the 100-yard dash; 35 mounted men in the mule steeplechase, and 50 in the mounted tug-of-war.

Officials of Meet.

Officials of the meet were:

Clerk, Y. M. C. A. Physical Director Al Haddleton; assistant clerk, Y. M. C. A. Physical Director H. C. Bennett; announcer, Lieutenant Thomas Thrash, 321st Machine Gun battalion; scorer, Captain Stanley W. Root, Ammunition Train brigade headquarters; referee, C. A. Boyer, division athletic officer; custodian of prizes, Lieutenant J. F. Sturdevant, 157th Depot brigade.

The athletic committee in charge of the day's athletic program was composed of Lieutenant Colonel O. Latrobe, chairman; Captain Bob McWhorter, Captain S. W. Murray, Division Athletic Director C. A. Boyer, and Y. M. C. A. Camp Physical Director W. F. Hoffmeister. All members were present at the meet Friday morning, and, led by their enthusiastic chairman, did much to make the occasion the success it was.

Who Changed The Sabbath?

A Great Free Biblical and Historical Address in the

GRAND THEATER

—by—

Carlyle B. Haynes

Author, Minister and Lecturer.

Sunday Night, Feb. 24

at 7:45 O'Clock

Doors Open at 6:30

In the Christian world there are two Sabbaths. During the past fifty years the question of which is the true Sabbath has been pressing itself with ever-increasing urgency upon the attention of Christian people.

Sunday, which has been observed by Christian people for generations, is being challenged by those who observe another day. Proofs for the divine institution of, and the authority for, Sunday observance are being demanded by a rapidly increasing number of people.

Mr. Haynes, who has given this subject years of close study, and who is the author of a book on this subject, will, in his forceful way, present all the evidence of both history and the Bible on this subject in his coming Sunday night address at the Grand.

You must not miss this address. It will forever settle this question for you. Bring your friends and come.

ATLANTAN TRAINING AS FLYER IN FRANCE

Cadet A. F. Akers, Son of Local Insurance Man, Finds Work Fascinating.

"My work is interesting and fascinating and I am simply in love with it. I believe thoroughly in the cause for which I am fighting and I have no doubt that the United States will achieve final and complete victory."

CADET A. F. AKERS,
Atlanta boy who is now in training as a flyer of the American expeditionary forces "Somewhere in France."

This is the message of courage and enthusiasm that Cadet A. F. Akers, son of Frank M. Akers, of the Georgia agency of the Prudential Life Insurance company and a prominent citizen of Atlanta, has sent home to his parents from "Somewhere in France."

Cadet Akers was one of the many Atlanta boys who went to France several months ago with the force of the "Rainbow" division after enlisting in the aviation secton of the signal corps last July. He is now taking his aerial training on the field in close proximity to the trenches.

The Atlanta boy was 27 years old last month. He went through the grammar schools here, graduated at the Boys' high school and completed his education at the Georgia School of Technology. He then secured a position with a prominent firm in Philadelphia and later enlisted in that city.

He was ordered to report to Columbus university in the latter part of July, where he remained for three months, taking his ground training. His squadron was then sent to Mineola, Long Island, for a few days, then went over to France with the "Rainbow" division, where he has been for the last four months taking his aerial training.

In addition to the enthusiasm for his work which is expressed in Cadet Akers' letters he states that the American expeditionary forces are well cared for by Uncle Sam and that the American soldier in France appreciates very much the backing of the people as a whole and the many courtesies and kindnesses from their friends back home.

BATTERIES FROM CAMP ENTERTAIN MARIETTA

Marietta, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Marietta was entertained this morning by Batteries D, E, and F, the headquarters company of the 321st Field artillery and the band of the 319th regiment Field artillery.

The features of the program were conducted on the public square and consisted of drills with three-inch guns, close order formations, exhibitions by the details in signaling and observing, the pitching of "pup" tents, etc. All the while the band of the 319th entertained.

Colonel Pearce, commanding the field artillery at Camp Gordon, came up for the exhibition.

In the afternoon the artillerymen entertained themselves and the people of Marietta with field day sports at the camp. Even the mules came in for participation on a bare-back relay race.

It has been arranged that the band of the 319th will remain in Marietta through the week-end and all of the coming week and will give concerts in the city park every afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

Batteries E and F of the 319th and one headquarters company will come to Marietta on Monday. The companies of the 321st, who are here now, will return to Camp Gordon tomorrow.

No Troop Reviews Today After Camp Holiday on Friday

Camp to Be Excused From Parades After Strenuous Celebration of Washington's Birthday—Rigid Inspection to Be Held.

Thousands of soldiers who spent a strenuous day Friday either taking part in the big Washington's birthday program or visiting in Atlanta will not take part in reviews this morning, according to information received at Camp Gordon yesterday, which is to the effect that officials in charge have decided to hold no troops parades Saturday morning.

Instead of staging the troop parades, it is stated, officials in charge of the various organizations will devote the entire morning to a thorough inspection of quarters, equipment and conditions surrounding the soldiers.

After the completion of the inspections the soldiers of the Eighty-second division will be as usual at liberty to come to the city or spend their time on the reservation as they see fit. The great influx of soldiers to Atlanta Friday is not expected to decrease the number of soldiers coming to the city Saturday, and Atlanta soldier clubs and entertainment rooms are making preparations to accommodate the usual week-end rush of Gordonites.

ATLANTA MEN WIN BIGGEST EVENTS IN ATHLETIC MEET

Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—The 122d infantry today won the 8,000-meter race, the big event of the Dixie division athletic meet in a time of 28 minutes and 30 seconds. Government men from the United States signal service in Washington took moving pictures of the event to be used in every city and camp in America.

Sergeant Thaxton, 122d infantry, won the long distance grenade contest with an average throw of 47 yards. Corporal Hampton, of the Atlanta regiment, was second in the 400-meter race with a time of 58 seconds.

The 122d infantry was second in the tug-of-war.

Wheeler Celebrates Washington's Birthday With Division Review

Macon, Ga., February 22.—Camp Wheeler is celebrating Washington's birthday with a division review, the reception of friends and relatives at the camp and an athletic meet to take place this afternoon, in which 3,000 sodiers are entered.

A tug of war, in which several hundred men are entered, will open the athletic program this afternoon. The 800-meter event will be featured by the runners scaling a 7-foot wall. Another race is designed to demonstrate fitness to act as messengers after the division reaches France. Bands will compete for the division championship.

The camp was thrown open to thousands of visitors. Military training continued in the morning as usual.

SUMTER BOARD PASSES MORE NEGRO DRAFTMEN

Americus, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—The local exemption board of Sumter county today summoned twenty-nine principals and twenty-one alternate selectmen who will be forwarded to Camp Gordon for induction into the national army at Camp Gordon tomorrow. All of the selectmen are negroes, and the party will leave here in command of one of their number. Chairman Walter T. Maunard, of the local board, stated today that war department authorities had advised the sending of negroes only in this consignment of selectmen, as the organization of certain units in which only negroes are to be incorporated will begin shortly.

SANDERSVILLE LIGHTING PLANT DAMAGED BY FIRE

Sandersville, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Fire destroyed the roof on the municipal water and light plant this morning, doing considerable damage to the building, dynamos, pipes and other apparatus. It required four streams of water to quench the flames after an hour's hard work. The plant is badly crippled, but one other of the big machines was working this evening to pump water for fire purposes, the machine being electrically driven.

Estimated damage is $10,000, fully covered by insurance. The fire originated in the boiler room and rapidly spread over the entire building.

FIREBUGS SUSPECTED IN WAREHOUSE FIRE

Thomasville, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—The large warehouse of the Coolidge Warehouse company was burned last night and its entire contents destroyed. These included 90 bales of cotton, 50 of hay, velvet beans, peanuts, corn and other stuffs. No clue has been found to the origin of the fire, but report says a loud explosion was heard in the building just before the fire was discovered.

BAINBRIDGE IS BUILDING IN SPITE OF OBSTACLES

Bainbridge, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—In spite of the high cost of lumber and other building materials, considerably more building is going on in Bainbridge than at any time in the past few years. Several buildings in the business section are being enlarged and a number of residences are being built. Real estate men report a greater demand for homes since last fall than ever before in the history of the city. The hotels and boarding houses are full, and there is not a residence to be rented at the present time in Bainbridge.

DAWSON FARMERS MAKE RICE CULTURE A SUCCESS

Dawson, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) A number of Terrell county's farmers successfully engaged last year in growing crops of rice on their farms and will enlarge their acreage of this product during the present year. In order to encourage the planting of rice in this section, the large flour mill on the Eladale estate in the suburbs of Dawson has put in a complete outfit for cleaning rice, and J. R. Mercer has offered to supply rice for planting purposes at actual cost to the farmers who desire to undertake its culture this year.

SHERIDAN DIVISION PARADES IN AUGUSTA

Inspiring Scene on Broad Street to Tune, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Augusta, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Thirty-one thousand soldiers of the Twenty-eighth division of the army of the United States, the Pennsylvania men, observed Washington's birthday today on a parade into the city. The distance is about six miles. General Muir, in command, reviewed the troops at a vantage point as they were returning to the reservation. A hundred thousand people from Augusta and the surrounding country viewed the turnout. It is estimated that there were five thousand out-of-town automobiles in the city.

The parade turned at the Confederate monument on Broad street and as the troops marched both east and west by that point there was presented an inspiring spectacle. Broad street is the width of Pennsylvania avenue in Washington and it has been commented that no city in the south other than Augusta could have afforded the street facilities for such a parade as shown today. During the march the bands when they passed the monument gave "Onward Christian Soldiers." It was the understanding that if this music was rendered by the bands today it would mean that the division had adopted "Onwards Christian Soldiers" as their battle hymn.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL SPEAKS AT K. C. HALL

Hon. J. R. Sullivan, of New York, Delivers Stirring Patriotic Address.

Jeremiah R. Sullivan, noted native son of Iowa, spoke at the K. of C. hall at Camp Gordon last night to a capacity crowd of soldiers.

Mr. Sullivan is chairman of the general board of appraisers of the United States, one of the most important business organizations under the federal government. This board is the one to which Congressman Adamson was recently appointed a member and on account of which he resigned his seat in the house.

Mr. Sullivan was a prominent lawyer in his native state of Iowa, but has lived in New York of recent years. He is now residing in Washington, D. C.

He came to Camp Gordon for the especial purpose of delivering the Washington day patriotic address at the K. of C. auditorium and is one of a group of speakers sent to the various camps for this occasion.

Bishop B. J. Kelley, of Savannah, opened the meeting with prayer. Jack J. Spalding introduced Mr. Sullivan and acted in the capacity of chairman of the meeting. The K. C. Choral club of Atlanta, composed of about thirty members, furnished the musical program.

In his speech Mr. Sullivan drew a remarkable parallel between the principles for which George Washington fought and those for which the forces of democracy are battling today. He showed how the same ideals of personal freedom which had animated the heroes of the past were now animating the struggling forces of right in their fight against autocratic tyranny and predicted a final victory for America and her allies, no matter how long the war might have to be waged.

Northern Troops Are Introduced To Georgia 'Cue

Capt. O. Q. Melton Host at Big Dinner Friday — Soldiers of Company K, 325th Infantry, and Regimental Officials Guests.

One of the happiest events of the big Washington's birthday program arranged for Camp Gordon was a big company barbecue given by Captain O. Q. Melton to the members of his command, Company K, of the 325th infantry, Friday at noon, and the guests at the captain's table have not yet left off with praising their commander and the culinary experts who were responsible for the rich viands that were spread before them on the military holiday.

The barbecue was given the men as a surprise, and some little apprehension was created in Company K's barracks when a big fire was started at 3 o'clock Friday morning and the "swansong" of a couple of young pokers were heard by the northern and eastern soldiers, who were totally unacquainted with Georgia 'cues.

The novices conducted themselves at the barbecue dinner just as though they were old-timers at the game. The barbecue was served the men in the company street not a dozen yards from the pit in which the smoking meat had been prepared by Jack Swords, a 'cue expert of Newton county, Georgia.

Honor guests at the dinner were Colonel and Mrs. Whitman, Colonel Wagner, Dr. W. F. Melton, father of Captain Melton; Major Pearce and the officers of the battalion of infantry to which Company K belongs. Lemonade, cigarettes and cigars were available in plenty, in addition to the many varieties of food, and the affair was voted a success from every angle by all present.

Dawson Celebrates.

Dawson, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) The anniversary of the birth of the "country's founder," George Washington, was appropriately observed here today.

An excellent program was rendered in the public school auditorium.

Camp's Newest Brigadier Leaves Friday For Another Assignment

Gen. Ryan Ordered to Reassume Duties in Cavalry Department—Reported His Coming to Gordon Due to Mistake.

Immediately following the arrival of Brigadier General J. A. Ryan at Camp Gordon and his assignment to the command of the 157th depot brigade there on Thursday, the camp's new brigadier was reassigned Friday to the command of his old organization, the first brigade of the Fifteenth cavalry division and left the camp yesterday to join the unit at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

With the departure of the camp's newest brigadier all probability of its becoming a training point for a cavalry organization at any time soon vanished. It is understood that the coming of General Ryan to Camp Gordon to assume the command of the 157th depot brigade at Camp Gordon was due to some mistake in a war department order, though this is not announced officially.

With the recent arrival of so prominent a cavalry officer at the Georgia cantonment it was through highly probable that Camp Gordon might later become a training point for cavalry on a small scale under his direction. The feasibility of the article along this line that appeared in Friday's issue of The Constitution is borne out by Friday's developments, which plainly show that the war department regards General Ryan as too valauble a cavalry officer to transfer to any organization of the other army departments.

Whether his coming to Camp Gordon is or is not due to error, General Ryan was formally reassigned Friday and he lost no time in boarding a train to take charge of a unit of cavalry in the mounted training school at Fort Sam Houston.

General Ryan's successor to the permanent command of the 157th depot brigade has not yet been announced, and officials at Camp Gordon seem to be in the dark concerning the name of the brigadier general who is entitled to the command of the organization. In all probability, however, a brigadier will soon be assigned to take charge of the brigade and unofficial statements to this effect have been made.

Until the permanent appointment is made Colonel Hunter B. Nelson, former commander of the old First provisional regiment (colored), who again took charge of the colored training battalions when General Ryan arrived at the camp, will be in command of the entire depot brigade.

Colonel Wetherill, who has been in charge of the colored training battalions while Colonel Nelson has been at the head of the brigade and who was on Thursday displaced by Colonel Nelson's reassuming his old command, will again take charge of the colored training battalions.

More Monroe Draftmen.

Forsyth, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) Another increment of men for the national army will entrain here Monday for Camp Gordon. They are all negroes and number sixteen.

NINE-HOLE GOLF COURSE FOR GORDON ANNOUNCED FRIDAY

Washington, February 22.—(Special.)—It is officially announced today by the war department that a nine-hole golf course has been decided upon for Camp Gordon, and that assisting in the building of the course and the instruction of soldiers in the game will be the camp physical director and Charles W. Hall, of Birmingham, Ala.

METHODIST CAMP PASTOR AT GORDON FOR WEEK'S STAY

Dr. W. G. Clinton, of Carthage, Mo., pastor of one of the largest Methodist Episcopal churches in that city, has accepted the position of representative of the Methodist Episcopal church in the cantonments of the south. He will be in Camp Gordon until March 1, and then go to Montgomery to work in Camp Sheridan.

Dr. Clinton has been unusually successful in his work with men and for this special fitness he was secured by Bishop Leets to represent his church. Dr. Clinton will preach in the Ponce de Leon Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning.

Rev. John J. Treadwell, of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, has organized a Methodist club in Camp Gordon to meet in the auditorium of the camp every Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Treadwell will be in the auditorium from 1 until 6 to meet all Methodist boys.

MANY SOLDIERS WILL ATTEND S. A. E. DINNER AND DANCE

On Saturday night, March 9, at 8 o'clock, the Atlanta alumni and the Georgia Tech chapter of the S. A. E. fraternity will assemble at the Capital City club for their annual dinner-dance in honor of the founding of their fraternity. As there are many members of this fraternity at Camp Gordon, Camp Wheeler, Fort McPherson and at Oglethorpe who are expected to be on hand, the affair will be very military.

All members are requested to secure their tickets as soon as possible from Willis Timmons at Crumley-Sharp Hardware company; Lee Duncan, of the Duncan Grain company; Earle Greene, at 204 Grant building; Captain Fairfax Montague, 319th Field artillery, battery B, Camp Gordon, or from members of the Tech chapter at 286 West Peachtree street. Dinner will be served promptly at 8 o'clock, a service flag will be raised and there will be plenty of opportunity for every one to get acquainted.

NEW RESERVE MILITIA AND THE DRAFT LAW

Columbia, S. C., February 22.—Attorney General Peeples today gave out an opinion to the effect that the new South Carolina reserve military regiment was not subject to draft into the federal service as a national guard organization. He holds, however, that membership in the regiment will not exempt a man from draft provided he is in the draft age. The opinion was given on request of Governor Manning.

In Thrilling Game the Fulton Maids Win Over the Decatur Five by Score of 20 to 2.

By Clark Foreman.

Fulton High cinched the Girls' Prep basketball pennant Friday afternoon by defeating the Marietta five by the close score of 4 to 3. The game was a real battle, both sides playing to the height of their ability, but the Marietta forwards were unable to do much work on account of the fine guarding of Miss Phillips.

Both sides shot only noe field goal, but the Fulton team rung two fouls to the Marietta quintet's one, making the final score 4 to 3.

Misses Phillips, Graves and Jackson did the stellar work for the county team, while Miss Kemp featured for the Marietta five.

This was the last game of the Girls' Prep league and the Fulton High girls won the pennant, being undefeated the whole season.

CUBS' PREXY WARNS THE TEAM'S HOLDOUTS

Chicago, February 22.—Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Nationals, tonight served notice on players regarded as hold-outs that unless they came to terms before the departure of the club for the spring training camp at Pasadena, Cal., early next month they would be obliged to seek other employment.

"I shall not be bothered with hold-outs this season," Weeghman said. "We did not make any big cuts in salaries, despite the war. The majors cannot afford to pay enormous salaries, and the players should be made to understand the situation confronting the club owners."

Baseball in Snow.

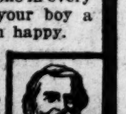

Newport, R. I., February 22.—In a blinding snowstorm and with the temperature near the zero point, officers from the First Naval district defeated officers from Fort Adams in a full nine-inning baseball game, 12 to 5 today. The outfield was blotted from view of the home plate by the snow, but the infielders served as observation posts for the outer defense and occasionally directed a successful put.

Bellaire Golf.

Bellaire, Fla., February 22.—T. A. Ashley, of Woodland, won the Washington's birthday tournament here today when he defeated W. B. Fitch, of Exmoor, in the finals by 12 up and 11 to play.

Men who are capable of handling horses are still wanted for the veterinary corps. They must be physically fit and not of selective-service age.

No Schedule Is Adopted

Southern Moguls Fail To Agree on Schedule

Adjourned at 11 Last Night Until 10:30 This Morning. Little Rock's Sunday Dates Cause of Confusion—$50 Rain Guarantee, and Method of Collecting War Tax Adopted—Ticket Printing Contract Is Awarded—Was Twelve-Hour Session.

By Dick Jemison.

The adoption of a rain guarantee of $50, the method of collecting the war tax, and the awarding of the contract for the printing of tickets, was the only business completed by the Southern league moguls at their annual spring meeting at the Hotel Ansley yesterday.

After a stormy twelve-hour session the magnates adjourned at 11 o'clock last night until 10:30 o'clock this morning, without adopting a shedule.

The method of collecting the war tax was reached just prior to adjournment, it being agreed to charge 30 cents for bleacher tickets and 55 cents for grandstand, and to leave the matter of passes and box seats to the jurisdiction of the individual clubs.

There was a heated discussion over the awarding of the ticket printing contract, but Toof & Co., of Memphis, Tenn., who have printed the tickets for several years past, were finally awarded the job.

The Rain Guarantee.

The Atlanta club brought up the matter of paying $50 rain guarantees to the visiting club in lieu of there not being any guarantee fund in the league this season.

The moguls' action in this respect was a wise one, as it will force the playing of games where there is a possibility, due to ground conditions, of their being called off, when a point could be stretched and the games played off.

This will tend to make the home clubs keep their grounds in better condition, secure facilities for helping to do so and will prevent any jockeying. Every effort will be made to play the games this season, and the visiting club will not be the goat.

Little Rock Spills Beans.

The Little Rock club is the cause of the long wrangle over the schedule. President Allen, of the Little Rock club, was delayed in reaching Atlanta until the middle of the afternoon. The moguls had delayed action until his arrival.

When he did arrive he announced that Little Rock was going to build a new ball park just outside of the cantonment at Little Rock, and armed with letters from prominent business men of Little Rock, backing him in the move, the Traveler prexy announced that Little Rock would play Sunday baseball this season.

This caused a furore in the meeting, and in an effort to give the Travelers an equitable assortment of games, the moguls got deep in the mire. One mogul would agree to one switch of dates only to have some other object, and this continued until, tired from continual arguing, the meeting adjourned for the night.

The adding of Little Rock to the Sunday cities added confusion to the adoption of the schedule, and when it is finally adopted it is safe to say that the dates will be very badly torn up.

Some of the clubs were averse to giving any of their games to Little Rock. This caused quite a heated discussion to ensue, during which there were swaps and counter swaps until the moguls were all at sea.

May Change Opening.

The opening and closing dates may be changed. The season will either open on April 18 and close on September 8 or it will open on April 17 and close on September 7.

It is possible that an entire new set of dates will have to be arranged before the moguls will be able to agree.

The possibility of the change of the opening and closing dates is due to the clubs objecting to the jump away from home September 8, unless the home clubs split 50-50 with them. When this is sprung on the moguls, it is sure to cause quite a disturbance and may result in an entire new set of dates being drafted.

Some of the moguls contend that President Allen at the Birmingham meeting promised to let the schedule makers know whether or not he could play Sunday ball within a week's time, but that up until yesterday, with the tentative schedule already prepared, they had received no notification from him.

This peeved some of the moguls to the extent that they were not as willing to give the Little Rock manager Sunday dates as they would have been otherwise.

New Umpire Staff.

President Baugh refrained from announcing his umpire staff last night. He is awaiting until all of the men are signed up, but it is common report that there will be several new faces among the personnel of the Southern league umps this season.

Bill Brennan has already been announced. Jack O'Toole, Jack Kerin and Dan Pfenninger will be retained from last year's staff. The other four men, it is said, will be new men.

There were no talk of trades at the meeting. The entire time was taken up with the schedule and the three matters mentioned above.

The report that New Orleans was going to trade Knaupp, Edmondson and other of their players was not broached during the day.

Mike vs. Bob.

A rather humorous incident happened when Bob Allen, of Little Rock, sprung his announcement about the playing of Sunday baseball in Little Rock this season.

"I'll bet you $100 you are not playing Sunday baseball at your new grounds after July 4," chirped Mike Finn, manager of the Chattanooga club.

This evidently riled Mr. Allen, for he peeled some yellow backs from his roll and told Mike to put up or shut up. The money was actually put up and is being held by a properly appointed stakeholder, after the two moguls were the subject of the jibes of their fellows for some little while.

Kid Elberfeld has a bet of a new hat with Chris Haury, of Nashville, and Tom Watkins, of Memphis, on the same subject.

It is the opinion on the part of some of the moguls that made them backward about swapping dates with Little Rock. They are not satisfied that Little Rock is really going to play Sunday ball.

LOCAL QUINTET TO END CAMPAIGN

The Atlanta Athletic club will bring its basketball season for 1917-18 to a close tonight, with a game with the Birmingham Athletic club quintet, their deadliest rivals.

This is a return engagement, the locals winning the game played in Birmingham by reason of the individual efforts of Everett Strupper, who will be missing from the locals' line-up tonight. He is in Baltimore with the Georgia Tech track team.

Tom Bryan will be shifted to forward to fill Strupper's place, while John Oliver will go to guard in Bryan's place. This combination has been working splendidly this week in practice and the boys are confident of closing their season with a victory over their old rivals.

Birmingham is coming primed for action, determined to get revenge for the defeat in Birmingham, and basketball fans of the city can look forward to a hard fought contest.

LEAGUE LEADERS HAVE A CLOSE CALL

By Clark Foreman.

G. M. A. defeated Commercial High Friday in a hard fought and hair-raising struggle by the score of 13 to 10. The game was played at the Atlanta Athletic club Tuesday afternoon and was witnessed by a large crowd.

Both sides played good ball and it is hard to tell which played the best. The game was tight throughout and the fine passing and shooting kept the crowd hollowing all the time.

Commercial High scored the first point when Manes shot a foul after the cadets had failed to shoot one. The Georgia Military academy five followed this with a field goal and up to the last few minutes of the first half the score was close, but in these last few minutes the G. M. A. quintet shot three goals and the count at the end of the first period was 9 to 4.

Frank Anderson's aggregation also scored the first goal in the second half and proceeded to pull up their score, having the count at one time 1 to 9, but the College Park five shot another goal and another foul to the local team's foul and the game ended after a dispute between the two timekeepers with the score 13 to 10.

Manos, of the Commercial squad, was the scintillating star of the game, making all of Commercial's points. Cody, of the same team, played well and guarded his man to perfection.

Stuppa and Hartley were the stellar players for the College Park team, both boys playing well.

The line-up:

G. M. A. (13).	Pos.	C. H. S. (10).
Stuppa (4)...	Right Forward	...Manos (10)
Byrd (2).....	Left Forward	.....Stubbs
Fielden (5).....	Center	.....Barkin
Hartley (2)....	Right Guard	.....Cody

ANOTHER EX-CHAMP RECEIVES LAST COUNT

New York, February 22.—Terry McGovern, former world's featherweight champion, died at the King's County hospital this morning. He had been ill only two days.

Pneumonia and kidney trouble complicated with other ailments, brought on the boxer's end within 48 hours from the time he was removed in an ambulance from his Brooklyn home to the hospital. His wife was with him when he died. They have one son, Joseph, aged 16.

McGovern was reputed to have earned several hundred thousand dollars during his fighting career. After his retirement from the ring he conducted saloons at various times and was frequently in institutions because of ill health. He was a free spender, and his fortune had so diminished a few years ago that Samuel Harris, who was his manager at the height of his boxing success, raised a fund on McGovern's behalf. From this money Mrs. McGovern has received an income of $25 a week.

TWO NEW PITCHERS FOR THE CRACKERS

Lefty McTigue and Otto Peters Are Purchased Outright From Povidence Internationals.

President-Manager Frank, of the Crackers, last night announced the purchase of two new twirlers for the Crackers. They are "Lefty" McTigue and Otto Peters.

The announcement of Peters' purchase was made tentatively some time ago, but the deal was not actually completed until 1st night. The deal for McTigue was completed at the same time.

McTigue is the Nashville boy who formerly received a trial with the Boston Braves and was shipped by them to the International league. The local mogul expects him to prove a winner with the locals.

Peters' record has already appeared in these columns. William McTigue, with Providence last season ,worked in 21 games, winning 7 and losing 4. He finished 6 games for distressed mates.

McTigue made but two errors, handling 25 put outs and 41 assists for an average of .971.

McTigue shone with the stick. He appears in the batting averages in 31 games, being at bat 64 times, scoring 11 runs, making 20 hits for 35 total bases, two doubles, five triples and a homer being in his list. His batting average was .312, and there were but eleven men in the entire league that outhit him during the season.

Indoor Tennis.

New York, February 22.—Arthur S. Cragin and W. Dickson Cunningham in the final of the special doubles tournament at the Seventh Regiment armory, defeated F. B. Alexander and Dr. William Rosenbaum, the national indoor tennis champions, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-0.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt and H. A. Throckmorton outplayed Miss Marie Wagner, national indoor champion, and W. M. Hall, in an exhibition mixed doubles. The score stood at 7:5, 6-all on games when the competition was called.

G. M. C. Easy Winners.

Milledgeville, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Coach Rawson's G. M. C. five trimmed the boys from Douglas, Ga., good and proper tonight, 46 to 14. This gives G. M. C. eight straight wins and the state championship.

ECONOMIC AGREEMENT REACHED WITH NORWAY

United States and the Other Allied Nations Are in Complete Accord.

Washington, February 22.—A complete economic agreement, in which Great Britain and the other allied nations are in accord, has been reached between the United States and Norway. The terms have not yet been made public.

Announcement of the successful conclusion of negotiations between the war trade board and Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the Norwegian commissioner, which have extended over several months, was contained in this statement issued by the board tonight through the committee on public information:

"The war trade board, acting in harmony with a similar decision of the British government in regard to the Norwegian steamer Alfred Nobel, has decided to release the Norwegian steamer Kim, now lying in an American port, and permit it to proceed to Norway with its cargo of oil cake for fodder purposes. Dr. Nansen, Norwegian commissioner in the United States, has been informed of the decision, which was taken in view of the fact that the general negotiations with Norway have reached a point where nothing remains except the drafting of the agreement.

"Both cargoes, that of the Alfred Nobel, comprising flour and other foodstuffs, were loaded in the Argentine and are covered by the new Norwegian rationing agreement about to be drafted."

Although the terms of the final agreement have not been made public, Norway, in a note handed to the war trade board February 14, in reply to a memorandum of the board of January 26, acceded to most of the American demands. It refused, however, to agree not to export to the central powers many of its own products, including ingredients of munitions and supplies of war, on the ground that it depended upon Germany for many necessary commodities and had to furnish that country supplies in return.

Norway is largely dependent upon the United States and the allies for food, as well as for other commodities, and exports from America had been sharply restricted pending the outcome of the negotiations. Through its control of fuel coal in this country, the war trade board was able to hold up Norwegian ships carrying food from other countries to Norway in such cases where the ships had to call at American ports for fuel.

Under the agreement as originally outlined by the war trade board Norway has been allotted sufficient food for one year and this now will be allowed to go forward. Originally the agreement was for the term of one year, subject to cancellation upon notice by either party, and also subject to renewal at the expiration of the year.

COAL MEN ARE INDICTED UNDER THE FUEL LAW

Knoxville, Tenn., February 22.—D. C. Campbell, of the D. C. Campbell Coal company, and John Q. and William C. Barker, of the Barker Lumber company, recently indicted by the federal grand jury here on charges of violating the national fuel law and regulations, were taken in custody by authorities Friday and required to give bond before United States Commissioner John M. Thornburgh for their appearance at the May term of United States district court.

Campbell, who is defendant in a fourteen-count indictment charging the sale of coal at unlawful prices, was required to give a bond of $10,000.

Barker Brothers were required to give a joint bond of $10,000 and separate bonds of $5,000 each, making a total of $20,000. They are named defendants in a nineteen-count indictment, one of the counts alleging conspiracy, as well as in a separate indictment charging the filing of false and fraudulent reports with the federal trade commission regarding the amount of coal handled.

Capiases for the remainder of the forty-seven firms and individuals recently indicted in the coal investigation are in the hands of the United States marshal and will be executed within the next few days.

NAMED FOR ANNAPOLIS AND FOR WEST POINT

Washington, February 22.—(Special.) Congressman Wright, of the Fourth district, announces the following appointments to Annapolis: Frank Bridges Williams, of West Point, principal, and William C. McBride, of Newnan, first alternate.

To West Point, Thomas Banks Bradley, of Newnan, principal; Nathan A. Brown, Columbus, first alternate, and Hubert Hudson Dunlap, of Chipley, second alternate.

A rifle bullet covers about two miles in five seconds, while sound travels the same distance in a shade more than 9½ seconds, so it is easy to understand why the bullet strikes before the report of the rifle is heard.

WILSON SENDS MESSAGE TO PARIS CELEBRATION

Paris, February 22.—The ministers of the South American and Central American republics had luncheon with William G. Sharp, the American ambassador at the embassy today, in accordance with the long-established custom of celebrating Washington's birthday in this manner. All the Latin-American republics were represented. Mr. Sharp read to the guests the following message from President Wilson:

Please convey to your guests assembled on the 22d my warmest greetings and my wish that I might be present to enjoy with you and them the sense of comradeship, community of interests and devotion to common purposes and ideals which is daily becoming stronger between the republics of America.

"One of the happiest circumstances of the time is that Washington's birthday has become an appropriate anniversary upon which to celebrate and renew the principles of liberty, justice and humanity, which must be made the principles of the world."

The ministers then adopted the following resolution, which was sent to President Wilson:

"The diplomatic representatives of the American republics, assembled in the embassy of the United States on Washington's birthday, are happy to seize this opportunity of expressing to his excellency, President Woodrow Wilson, their most respectful homage and their wishes for the greatness and glory of the American nation. They thank President Wilson for the message he was good enough to address to them at the very moment they were receiving the gracious hospitality of Ambassador Sharp."

DR. EMORY R. PARK TO GET COMMISSION

Washington, February 22.—(Special.) Dr. Emory R. Park, of LaGrange, has been recommended by the advisory board for a commission as first lieutenant in the United States Medical Reserve corps.

Watch the Little Pimples; They are Nature's Warning

Unsightly and Disfiguring Signals of Bad Blood.

Don't close your eyes to the warning which nature gives, when unsightly pimples appear on your face and other parts of the body.

Not only are these pimples and splotches disfiguring, but they lead to serious skin diseases that spread and cause the most discomforting irritation and pain. Sometimes they foretell Eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other annoyances that burn like flames of fire, and make you feel that your skin is ablaze.

When these symptoms appear on any part of the body, take prompt steps to rid the blood of these disorders. And the one remedy which has no equal as a purifier is S. S. S., the purely vegetable blood medicine, which has been on the market for more than fifty years. It is sold by druggists everywhere.

If you are afflicted with any form of skin disease, do not expect to be cured by lotions, ointments, salves and other local remedies, as they can not possibly reach the source of the trouble, which is in the blood. Begin taking S. S. S. today, and if your case needs special advice, write a complete history of your case, and our chief medical adviser will give you all necessary instructions, without charge. Men and Guns Germany Gains By Russia's Surrender

When the Russian Muzhik trades his machine-gun to the Germans for a drink of vodka, as many are doing, he comes near typifying the act of his Bolshevik superiors in giving up their military power for an intoxicating dream of anarchistic liberty. Like them too, he may hit off the transaction with some fine phrase that seems to sanctify his murderous bargain.

Declaring pipously that they can not continue a war with the German and Austrian workers, they release those unhappy workers for transfer to the Western front where they may soon be thrown in masses at the Allied guns with far more disastrous results to themselves than if they had remained in the quiet trenches of Poland.

What is of most concern to the American people, however, is what gain Germany has made in men and guns by Russia's unconditional surrender, and in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for February 23d, there is a careful examination of this phase of developments on the Eastern front, and other contingencies that may arise in the near future.

TRAVELERS PREPARE TO AID GOVERNMENT

Effect Organization for Dissemination of Information on Liberty Bonds, Thrift Stamps and Food Conservation.

When old Hank Smith sits on the cracker box in the cross-roads general store and wonders "what in tarnation this here thrift stamp and Liberty Loan business is all about," there will be a well-posted traveling man dropping in to tell Hank and all the other old-timers all about it.

The Georgia Traveling Men's Association for National Service held an all-day session Friday in the assembly room of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, at which the most efficient and aggressive trail-hitters of the craft enthusiastically pledged themselves to carry the gospel into all the highways and byways of the state.

Complete and accurate information will be given them concerning Liberty Bonds, thrift stamps, food conservation and all other matters which the government recognizes the desirability of having preached direct to the people of every locality.

Hooper Alexander Speaks.

The convention opened at 11 o'clock and the address of welcome was made by United States Attorney Hooper Alexander, who displayed an accurate knowledge of the vast good to be derived by the country from the patriotic efforts of the traveling men. He was followed by W. T. DuBose, director of traveling men's activities for the sixth federal reserve district, who pointed out the fact that, in addition to the actual selling of thrift stamps and bonds, the traveling men could instruct and enthuse the storekeepers, who in turn could be depended upon to spread their newly acquired knowledge to their customers and neighbors.

Sam C. Dobbs spoke ably of the benefits to be derived from the thrift-stamp movement in establishing the habit of saving, and expressed the belief that thrift would, in a measure, counteract the socialism which he decried as an evil. He told of a traveling man, M. L. Rainey, who has sold by personal solicitation $3,000 worth of thrift stamps within two weeks.

After the adjournment for luncheon C. W. Hohenstein addressed the assembly, after which an executive session was called and the work of organization and election of officers proceeded. J. H. Timberlake, of Macon, former grand chancellor of the Georgia-Florida division of the United Commercial Travelers and a widely-known traveling man, was elected president, with J. H. Andrews as secretary.

General Committee Named.

A general committee was appointed from the twelve jobbing points represented in the attendance, the Atlanta committee being composed of E. M. Hudson, R. K. Rambo, R. L. Wallace, J. W. Bates, Lynn Fort, G. A. Gershon, W. C. Holleyman, Edward S. Meyers and H. D. Shackelford. A. G. King and K. P. Allen were appointed from Macon; E. F. Eppstein, M. F. Meyers and Albert Ehrlich, from Savannah; O. P. Schwitzeriet, F. W. Thelling and E. H. Sullivan, from Augusta.

Max Banner, J. M. Giddens, J. R. Duncan and R. I. Zaccharias, from Columbus; W. D. Beacham and Ed Weir, from Athens; H. A. Dean and H. R. Gray, from Rome; J. C. Mayson and H. W. McClure, from Albany; Frank Lanier and T. M. Thurlough, from Americus; A. N. Snelling, G. W. Batson and P. A. Hay, from Waycross; S. W. McConnell, from Gainesville, and Levy W. Reeves, from Greenville.

The president was given the right to appoint additional members to this general committee from other jobbing points in the state.

The committee has set its membership goal at 5,000, and already more than 1,600 of the representative commercial travelers of the state have been enrolled.

Macon, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) Mrs. Cleo Urquhart, wife of Julian Urquhart, Macon attorney, has been granted a first decree divorce verdict. Mrs. Urquhart brought suit for divorce shortly after she and Mr. Urquhart were married. She claimed that she lost twenty pounds during the first month of her married life and charged that her husband was the most unreasonable man who ever lived. The suit was not defended by Mr. Urquhart.

Fruit Outlook Poor.

A Carload of Pigs Brings Over $2,500 In Albany Market

Albany, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) When 34 Georgia pigs sold for slaughter bring a total of $1,236.24, or an average price of $36.36 each, and the pigs were raised in a southwest Georgia county, pig-raising in this section may be said to have reached the point where its financial possibilities compel recognition.

A carload of pigs shipped yesterday from Albany brought a little more than $2,500. There were 94 pigs in the car and they belonged to John D. Little, S. W. Brown and M. W. Tift. All the porkers brought good prices, though those which Mr. Little sold commanded a little better than the market quotations for the day. They were Duroc Jerseys from the Fowltown farm in Lee county, six miles north of Albany, and the average price for the 34 was $36.36. The car went to a Jacksonville concern.

The hog crop in southwest Georgia this year will be worth many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"Peanuts and pigs" will be the slogan on many a farm in this section in 1918, for just as the number of porkers will be the greatest on record, so will the peanut acreage be the greatest ever planted. A farmer can sell his pigs and his peanuts now, many months before either will be ready for market, for prices representing large profits.

Veterans Participate In Great Flag-Raising Exercises in Thomasville

Thomasville, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—The big flag-raising and patriotic demonstration this afternoon in celebration of Washington's birthday was a great success and drew hundreds of visitors from nearby towns and the country districts. The exercises took place in the courthouse square and were preceded by a grand parade headed by Thomasville and Pavo brass bands and including confederate veterans, Daughters of the Revolution and Confederacy. A thousand school children were waving flags.

After patriotic music by bands and prayer, Rev. Guy Fisher, of Quitman, was introduced by Mayor Cooper and made a brilliant patriotic address, his subject being "The Clock Is Striking the Hour and God Is on Time." He was followed by recitations and music, after which the big flag was raised to its pole to the music of the "Star Spangled Banner," confederate and union veterans raising the emblem.

A large service flag bearing three hundred stars for Thomas county boys in service was also raised. It was borne in the parade by recruiting officers from Albany, Bainbridge, Tifton, Valdosta, Quitman and Thomasville. Judge C. P. Hansell, wearing the confederate uniform, was grand marshal, and Hugh MacIntyre, Frank Harris, John Watt, John Vaughn and W. H. Burch, Jr., were aides.

ORDERS ARE RECEIVED FOR DRAINING WHEELER

Macon, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) Orders for the work of draining the swamps in the vicinity of Camp Wheeler to begin at once have been received here from the war department and H. B. Hoppendeitzen, who was awarded the contract some time ago, will have a large force of men at work within a couple of days. A ditch one mile long is to be dug to drain the lagoons in the Boggy branch section. This is only one part of the work, there being two or three other swamps that are as large as the Boggy branch section.

When Secretary Baker was here last Sunday he discussed the swamp drainage question freely and within forty-eight hours after his return to Washington the order was off the way to Macon for the work to begin. While here the secretary said that "If a mosquito can fly a mile to kill a soldier, surely the government can go a mile to kill the mosquitoes." Apparently the secretary meant just what he said, for the health authorities are going right into the lair of the mosquito horde and they are going to annihilate them.

AUGUSTA CHINAMAN MUST SERVE IN ARMY

Macon, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) Chew Dee Yee, a Chinaman, must serve in the United States army despite his protests that he has dependents in China. The district exemption board has so ruled, Yee being placed in class 1-A. Yee lives in Augusta and was first drafted by the Augusta City Board No. 2. He appealed on the ground that he has dependents in China, but the district board did not honor his claim.

Barnesville Celebrates.

Barnesville, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Washington's birthday was celebrated here today with a beautiful entertainment by the grammar grades of Gordon. Several hundred children participated in the program.

There were patriotic songs and declamations and several flag drills, the little people acquitting themselves in a very creditable manner. Miss Jo Oliphant, principal, and the faculty afforded the people of the community an opportunity to give expression to their patriotic devotion to the father of their country.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, FROM DAY TO DAY

Reconstruction work on downtown restaurants and soda fountains, necessitated by the rules of the city health officials working in conjunction with federal officials, has been largely responsible for the $5,000 expended on repairs on Atlanta buildings during the month, as shown by the records of the building inspector's office.

Insanitary conditions found in many of the eating places made new floors and other improvements necessary.

Many repairs on homes were also made during the month, indicating that the landlords are making ready for the spring renting rush.

Lot for Church Bought.

Announcement was made Friday by the realty firm of Benjamin D. Watkins of the sale of a lot 100 by 180 feet, on the southeast corner of Ponce de Leon and Highland avenues, to the Druid Hills Baptist church.

The property was purchased from the executors of the Thomas M. Clarke estate at the cost of $13,500.

Plans are being formulated by the church, according to Dr. F. M. McConnell, pastor, for the construction of an elaborate new edifice which will be in keeping with the handsome residences and churches in the locality of Ponce de Leon and Highland avenues.

Date for the beginning of erection is not yet named, but it is expected to be April before work will be begun.

$8,750—S. A. Albright to E. W. Brooks, lot on the northwest corner of Gordon and Inman streets, 407x281 feet. February 15, 1918.

JEWS PAY TRIBUTE TO MEN IN SERVICE

Eloquent Patriotic Address Delivered by Rabbi David Marx at Exercises Held at Pryor Street Temple.

The most patriotic service in the history of the Hebrew Benevolent Congregaton was held last night at the Pryor Street Temple, when the names of the forty-five members of the congregation wearing the army uniform, were presented on an embossed tablet to the congregation, in an impressive ceremonial, which deeply stirred the audience of almost five hundred, when Rabbi David Marx discussed the significance of the occasion.

The presentation of the tablet, of which Al Weinfelt was the artist, with the roll of honor inscribed thereon was the result of the efforts of the children of the Sabbath school, whose spokesman, Samuel Tenenbaum, moved the audience with his earnest and straightforward talk, and Julian Boehm accepted the gift on behalf of the congregation, saying, in part:

"These forty-five young men are making the supreme sacrifice. They will soon leave us to go across the waters. God grant that they will return safe and unharmed.

Conserve, Produce, Serve.

"This thought occurs to me: think of the sacrifice they are making. Beautiful words, spoken in praise of their valor are sincerely spoken. But deeds! We must conserve, produce and serve. Aid the Red Cross, and other similar work, and show by our sacrifice we appreciate the reality of this awful struggle."

Discussing the significance of Friday evening's Sabbath, Rabbi Marx called attention to the fact that it was the Sabbath of Remembrance of Israel's persecution by Amalek and Haman, marking singularly enough on the American calendar the Sabbath hallowed by the service of the Father of his Country, George Washington, therefore symbolizing service on the American calendar, he said, and the consecration of Israel on the Jewish calendar.

"The names of our sons who stand in defense of America are here inscribed. We say it without boast and we feel it with pride," he said. "A modern Amalek has in our time fallen on the Israel of Europe, Belgium, and because we remember, we come to make our sacrifice. It is a solemn hour with us. A tragic hour. When this congregation adopts resolutions setting forth our attitude towards the president of the United States we do not apologize. Our boys are in the army because they are Americans. They are not the less Jews because they are Americans, and they are not the less Americans because they are Jews," said Dr. Marx, who though admitting himself in the minority when he announced opposition to the restoration of Palestine, stated the position he took, as follows:

"All the World, Holy Land."

"Our fathers prayed for the restoration of Palestine, but they took ship to America. For me the holy land is not restricted to Palestine, but hallowed by the blood of millions. America—and all the world is holy land."

"In the hour of our country's need we answer back we shall go with our manhood and womanhood; we shall go with all our possessions. The cause is holy; the sacrifice is precious," continued Rabbi Marx, drawing a telling picture from his text: "In the valley was Joshua with the young men, fighting. In the mountain was Moses, the law, supported by the priesthood and the working agencies of Israel. Our boys are the Joshuas. Woodrow Wilson is the Moses. We must be the spiritual and the working agencies to hold up his hands in this hour of trial.

"No cry that may distract and be a source of help to those who contend against us must be raised," said Dr. Marx. "This is not the time to give comfort to the enemy. We of America must not slacken or discourage the government. Especially we who stay at home, for the lives of our sons are at stake, and what manner of men are we, if we profiteer by the blood of our sons? We American Jews ought to be most careful.

"If this congregation goes over the top, it goes with the American flag, American in spirit, American in culture. Though we are in the minority, we have no aspiration for any other flag. We stand by the Stars and Stripes. They represent us politically. We stand by the altar. It represents us religiously. We refuse to say, though, we be in the minority, that we must have a land elsewhere. We are opposed to any union of church and state, here or anywhere.

Israel Stood Beside Washington.

"Israel stood beside Washington. Israel fought through the civil war. Israel fights today. But at no time did Israel fight as Israel. Always we have the point of view of the land we live in. This is our sacred duty. As the blood of slaughtered millions bathes the earth, so is all of the earth holy land. So we do not proclaim to the world our allegiance. This would be insulting for it is our government as much as anyone's. We are not aliens here. We are at home in the house of our Father's, and our loyalty is not open to question.

"When I sing 'My Country 'Tis of Thee,' I sing only of America.

"Our flag of service is not before the door of the sanctuary, but in the wide expanse of the heavens, in the hope that the song of freedom may permeate all the corners of the earth. Our sons, bring them back to us. Give us not the victory of conquest, but the victory of universal peace in the hearts of all men. The victory of patriotism in the rights of all men. All people to worship Thee in spirit and in truth, and so we say to Thee, great Author of Human Destiny, it is to Thee we sing in deepest emotion, thanking Thee that ours is the privilege to serve."

As Rabbi Marx concluded the congregation stood, joining the magnificent choir in singing "America," as a great American flag was unfurled over the pulpit on which were seated, during the evening, Rabbi David Marx, Julian Boehm and Samuel Tennenbaum, of the Sabbath school. Chairs for Eugene Oberdorfer, president of the congregation, and Emanuel Loeb, vice president, were, owing to their absence from the city, unoccupied. They had selected Julian Boehm to represent them as their spokesman at the patriotic ceremonial.

Dr. Marx's followers were enthusiastic over his splendid address, and it was remarked by the Zionist leaders who heard him Friday night that his superb diplomacy and fair statement of his position, launched on so high a plane, draws him even closer to the hearts of the Zionists, because of the frankness of his admission concerning their numerical superiority. His statement of this fact bridged all chasms, it seemed, and Zionists united with others in praising his oration.

front), and Hartmanseweiler-Kopf (Alsace). There was no infantry action."

The official statement from the war office tonight says:

"There were no events of importance along our front today.

"Eastern Theater, February 21: There was feeble artillery firing on the various sectors today, but no artillery actions of importance."

GERMANS RAID BRITISH POSTS.

London, February 22.—"Early last night a large party of the enemy raided two of our posts in the neighborhood of the Ypres-Roulers railway and a few of our men are missing," says today's war office report.

"On the remainder of the British front ther is nothing special to report. A raid attempted by the enemy early yesterday morning against posts held by Belgian troops in the Merckem sector was repulsed by artillery and machine gun fire."

GERMAN REPORT ON OPERATIONS.

Berlin, February 22.—(Via London.) The German war office today issued the following bulletin:

"Western Theater: On isolated sectors there have been artillery and trench mortar activity and minor reconnoitering engagements. On the Ypres-Roulers railway an English outpost was taken by surprise and captured.

"During the last three days twenty-four enemy airplanes and two captive balloons have been brought down in aerial fighting or by gunfire."

ARTILLERY DUELS ARE IN PROGRESS ON ITALIAN FRONT

Rome, February 22.—The following official communication was issued by the war office today:

"There have been artillery duels of small intensity from Stelvio to the Astico. The firing was more intense on some other parts of the front. Our batteries made a concentration of fire upon enemy troops in the environs of Foza and on the northwestern slopes of Monte Grappa and also energetically countered the enemy artillery in the Val Frenzela and Val Brenta sector.

"The enemy shelled with greater frequency the southeastern slopes of Montello. At Grave di Popodopulo enemy scouting parties enlivened the operations.

"An English patrol has had an encounter with an important group of the enemy on the right bank of the Piave. Our patrols advanced to the Islet of Folina and brought back two enemy machine guns.

"During the morning English aerial squadrons bombarded enemy aviation grounds north and south of the Oderzo-Portogruaro railway line.

"During the day three enemy airplanes were brought down in the course of aerial engagements, including one by British airmen."

London, February 22.—A British official communication dealing with the operations of the British forces in Italy was issued here this evening. It says:

"In Italy during the past week successful raids have been made across the Piave and prisoners captured. There is successful counter-battery work daily.

"Our airplanes have made several successful bombing raids and destroyed an enemy dirigible shed. The enemy continues to bomb back areas and towns when the weather at night permits. Two of his machines were destroyed recently in returning.

"Since the British arrived here our flying corps have destroyed fifty-eight hostile machines, principally German, while we have lost eight. Many other hostile machines have been downed out of control."

INNSBRUCK BOMBED BY ALLIED AVIATORS

Many Persons Killed and Much Property Damaged in Austrian Town.

Bucha, Switzerland, February 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Five entente allied airmen flying over the Julian Alps Wednesday afternoon found that the town of Innsbruck, Austrian Tyrol, was not protected by anti-aircraft guns. The airmen thereupon swooped down to within 300 yards of the ground, picked out targets and copiously bombed them, including the railroad station, barracks and two new munitions factories.

Soldiers and civilians were surprised and, being unaccustomed to an air attack, rushed into the streets and many were killed.

The German consulate was hit and trains loaded with soldiers on their way to the Trentino front were attacked by machine guns from a low altitude.

UKRAINE PEACE PACT ADOPTED BY REICHSTAG

Main Committee Favors the Convention Drawn at Brest-Litovsk.

Berlin, February 22.—(Via Amsterdam.)—The main committee of the reichstag today adopted the peace treaty between Germany and the Ukraine.

Mother Offers Her Hair And That of Daughter For Use Against Germany

Washington, February 22.—Out of the many offers of personal sacrifice which reach the government, one made known today attracted more than usual attention.

It was an offer to the war department by Mrs. Bridgett Quinn, of Conifer, Pa., to give her hair and her little daughter's hair for use in the munition factories if the government needed them.

Secretary Baker wrote Mrs. Quinn a personal letter acknowledging her patriotism, but saying such a sacrifice was not at all necessary.

Evidently the woman had heard of the use of women's hair for belting on munitions machines in Germany.

PICHON CALLS AMERICA SAVIOR OF THE WORLD

Paris, February 22.—Standing on the steps of the equestrian statue of Washington in Place d'Lena, Stephen Pichon, foreign minister of France, made an address to a great throng today. Speaking in the name of the French government, he said:

"What we glorify at the foot of this statue is not only the commander-in-chief of the troops who won independence for America but the personification of the people without whom, in the terrible hours in which we are living humanity would be on the point of perishing."

Assembled around the monument were some hundreds of distinguished Frenchmen and American residents of Paris. Two companies of marines were drawn up before the monument. Standing with M. Pichon were Ambassador Sharp and Consul General Thackara.

M. Pichon said that Wilson and Washington contended for the same principles, after quoting from Washington's speech of acceptance of the command of the continental armies, M. Pichon exclaimed: "Do you not find in Washington's words the very foundations of the idea that inspired the messages of President Wilson.

"From Washington's work there was derived something more than the creation of the republic. Every day stronger and more powerful, she is called upon to group around her all the nations of the new world. She is destined by fertility, example, genius and expansion to mark indelibly with her imprint the future organization of the old world."

BURNING OF THE NEGRO AGAIN THRUST AT WILSON

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 22.—The Central Community League of Chattanooga, composed of negroes, has forwarded an appeal to President Wilson asking him to use the authority of his office to bring to justice members of the mob who recently burned Jim McIlherron, a negro, at the stake at Estill Springs, Tenn. Considerable feeling has been aroused among negroes in Tennessee over the affair at Estill Springs, but this is the first formal action taken in the matter. In the appeal the committee of the league declares that lynching and burning of negroes seem to be contagious and the bodily resistance "of the rather delicate south is becoming weaker and weaker."

The communication to President Wilson is signed by a committee consisting of the Rev. H. C. McDowell, pastor First Colored Congregational church, and L. D. Patten, M. D.

CONGRESSMAN KITCHIN IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Washington, February 22.—Mrs. Thomas Reilly, of Meriden, Conn., wife of the former Connecticut congressman, was seriously injured, and Representative Claude Kitchin, and Mrs. Kitchin were shaken and bruised when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a street car here tonight. C. H. England, secretary to Mr. Kitchin, who was driving the automobile, escaped unhurt.

The injured were taken to the Kitchin home here where Mrs. Reilly has been staying as a guest of the Kitchins. Beyond saying that they were serious the extent of Mrs. Reilly's injuries were not made known. Mrs. Kitchin is said to be suffering also from nervous shock, but the bruises sustained by Mr. Kitchin were reported slight, and he was expected to be out tomorrow.

The party was crossing Ninth street in downtown Washington when the car crashed into the automobile. The machine, which was owned by Mr. England, was demolished.

NATIONAL ARMY MEN ARRESTED AS TRAITORS

Alleged They Plotted to Shoot Officers and Deliver Comrades to Germans.

Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Wash., February 22.—Four national army soldiers were held in the guardhouse today awaiting a presidential warrant from Washington which will mean their internment as enemy aliens who plotted not only to shoot their officers the first time they got into action in Europe, but also to deliver all the American soldiers in their organization to the German army.

The names of the men under arrest have been withheld by the judge advocate pending advices from Washington.

A general clean-up of enemy aliens at Camp Lewis is in full swing, officers said today. Thirty-four were discharged today and altogether about 200 men have been weeded out of the ranks of the Ninety-first division. The internment or prosecution of those discharged today rests with the federal civil authorities.

Washington, February 22.—Officers of the judge advocate general's office said today that any national army soldiers charged with plotting treason would be tried by military court-martial and if found guilty would be liable to the death penalty. No report on the arrests at Camp Lewis had reached the judge advocate general.

In the ordinary course the division commander would make no report on such cases until the matter had been carefully investigated and, in case definite charges were filed, the actual trial of those concerned had been completed.

Action to be taken depends entirely upon whether the men under arrest were apprehended while still in the military service or after they had been discharged previously on grounds of holding enemy sympathy. If still in the service they would be dealt with under military law.

If, however, the plotters were discharged from the army and then arrested the military authorities would simply report the case to the department of justice and then hold the prisoners for the disposition of that tribunal.

The war department recently ordered steps taken to weed out of the service not only every alien suspected of holding allegiance to the enemies of this country, but those also whose affiliations before the entry of the United States into the war led to a suspicion of their loyalty. In this work the secret service and other branches of the department of justice have cooperated with the war department. Upon the dismissal of a suspect from the army his name, description and place of residence is sent to the department of justice, or if the man comes within the classification of "dangerous enemy alien" he is held for transfer to a detention camp.

No statistics have been made public as to the number of men discharged as a result of this campaign. Army officers do not believe, however, that the total of 200 reported from Camp Lewis would be a fair average for all camps. Discharges from the national rmy, they pointed out, naturally would be larger than from the national guard.

AMUSEMENTS

"Pollyanna."

(At the Atlanta.)

"Pollyanna," the glad play, is going to be next week's attraction at the Atlanta theater, and Manager Haase could not have secured a more appropriate one for a period when there is so much sorrow in the world. The engagement will open Monday night, next, and continue for the first four days of the week, with matinee on Wednesday. This fine comedy has just finished a very successful two-weeks' visit to New Orleans, and is now touring several of the principal cities of the south. "Pollyanna," one of the loveliest and most widely beloved characters in modern fiction, has been brought to the stage in all her flesh-and-blood charms, thanks to the deftness with which Mrs. Cushing has builded her comedy upon the enormously popular Glad Books of Mrs. Porter. Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger and George C. Tyler bring an able cast to the Atlanta theater to present the enormously popular glad play. This will be the first engagement of "Pollyanna" in Atlanta. Any favorite book character is more vivid and understandable when poetically visualized upon the stage. The almost unprecedented interest in the "Pollyanna" engagement is very significant. It shows that the public of Atlanta is keenly alive to what is new and vital in the theater, and is eager for plays that convey the sweet and beautiful influence that has made "Pollyanna" fiction tremendously popular in many lands. The comedy is an even greater delight than the stories. It spreads good cher and the glad spirit broadcast and is full of novel and fascinating surprises. The sale of seats for the "Pollyanna" engagement at the Atlanta theater is already very large.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

Bobby Heath's Revue, a combination of clever dancers and pleasing singers, with pretty girls and good comedians, is the headliner at the Lyric theater for the last half of the week, the last three performances coming today. The Maryland singers have another very clever act which has had its appeal to the people of Atlanta and has added greatly to the value of the bill. There are three other very fine acts, and a picture program of rare excellence.

Desperate Negro Slayer Of 2 Deputy Sheriffs Is Cornered in Florida

Willacoochee, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—News has just reached here that Ed Dansey, the negro who shot and killed Deputy C. D. McCraw, of this place, on the 17th at Crenshaw station, in Berrien county, was located last night at Archer, Fla. Florida officers have been notified to capture him.

Following this Dansey shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Neil Reins, of Archer, Fla., almost blowing his head off. Latest reports say that, although Dansey made his escape, he is severely wounded and is expected to be captured.

AMERICANS WIN IN PATROL FIGHT

One German Killed and Another Captured in "Way of Ladies" Sector--Americans Eager to Fight.

With the American Army in France, February 22.—In a patrol fight Americans from units under instruction in the famous Chemin des Dames sector, killed one German and captured another. One American was slightly wounded.

This is the first time it has been permitted to reveal the fact that new American units have entered the line. The troops have been there for some time, suffering slight casualties, but their presence was kept secret until it was certain the enemy knew they were there.

Details of the patrol fight are as yet unavailable, beyond the unofficial report that the prisoner taken was captured single-handed by a young American from one of the New England states who, during the engagement, dropped into a shell hole on top of a German hiding there and later brought him in.

The American forces entered the line on one of the darkest of nights through a shell-pitted region dotted with shell-wrecked towns. The French general commanding the sector, a hero of the Marne, greeted them as comrades in arms and kissed the American flag.

Display Great Eagerness.

Throughout the irregular period of service in the line these troops have displayed great eagerness to establish a record equal to or better than that of the troops holding the sector northwest of Toul.

The orders for them to leave their billets came suddenly a few weeks ago. The troops entrained and rode to the railroad nearest the position into which they were going. They knew whither they were bound and welcomed the opportunity to start the work of fighting the Germans.

The units as they detrained were received by the French general commanding the sector, who kissed the flag reverently and then addressed the men, saying that he held them into the same regard as his own soldiers and that they were brothers in arms, fighting for the same great cause. He warned them to be cautious in dealing with the enemy over the distant hills. The French soldiers, he said, were skillful in hunting these "wild beasts" and were glad of the opportunity to pass along all they knew to their American comrades. He recognized that they were courageous and anxious to test themselves against the enemy, but advised that they should go slow at first.

The troops made a long march to the line, singing at intervals to help the feet move faster and lighten the load they were carrying. They passed through mile after mile of shell-scarred debris which once were villages, but now without a single house left standing. The scenes of destruction on such a large scale impressed the Americans deeply and many of them expressed the hope that they would soon be able to help punish the perpetrators.

To Music of Roaring Guns.

The troops marched in and took up their positions without a hitch to the music of roaring guns, both friendly and hostile, their flashes frequently stabbing the blackness of the night, first here and then there as far as the eye could see.

On this occasion, as on previous occasions when American troops reached the front, they were warmly welcomed by their French comrades.

An American general with these troops had not been in the field two hours when the enemy dropped a number of six-inch shells close by him. It was the general's first experience under fire, but he continued his work coolly, remarking that he was no more nervous than he thought he would be.

The troops in this sector are virtually all husky specimens and there are many six-footers among them. They come from a cold climate and quickly adapted themselves to the field conditions at this season.

The reserve units are quartered in the Aisne quarries nearby, which are twenty feet under ground, one of which is capable of sheltering 3,000 men.

MILITARY
APPAREL EQUIPMENT

Dealing exclusively with men of the army, we cater strictly to their whims and fancies, so far as the government requirements permit. We must adhere, of course, to army regulations, but there are features which one may indulge that do not sidestep the military law, yet exceed the standard.

We refer now to officers' uniforms made of all-wool olive drab English Covert Cloth, that is one beautiful garment, admired by every officer.

With Italian lining, this suit sells for $37.50, or with silk lining at $42.50.

Open Evenings.
